REDUCTION IN P. E. RAILWAY FARES 'NOT POSSIBLE'

O. A. Smith, Road Executive, In Letter To Council, Explains Position

The Pacific Electric Railway Co. "is not at this time in a position to lower or to modify the present basis of fares."

This statement is contained in a letter addressed to the Glendale City Council March 5 by O. A. Smith, passenger traffic manager of the company, and released today for publication by Virgil B. Stone, city manager, after a conference this morning between the council and Bert P. Woodard, representing the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The conference was held with the council meeting in the committee of the whole, and reports were made. It is learned, however, that the council decided to resolve itself into a joint committee with the C. of C. transportation committee, to seek ways and means of lowering P. E. fares between Glendale and Los Angeles.

Hope for Action
It is hoped by the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce that some means other than filing a petition with the State Railroad commission may be found to induce the Pacific Electric Railway Co. to lower its Glendale rates, which are now 23 cents one way and 38 cents a roundtrip, as compared with a flat 10-cent rate to and from Los Angeles on the Hollywood line.

While it is not generally believed amongst the councilmen (Turn to page 15, cols. 2-3)

Bandits Stage $30,000 Holdup In Busy Street

CHICAGO, March 19.—Four young, well dressed bandits today shot and killed Michael Swinkowski, cashier of a local building and loan association, disarmed his two companions who were accompanying him to a bank and escaped with $10,000 in currency and $20,000 in signed checks.

The holdup took place on a busy south side street, the bandits forcing him to pull up his automobile and then stopping alongside it.

Freighter Ashore Off North Seattle Coast

SEATTLE, March 19.—The freighter Port Angeles, of the Nelson Steamship Co. of San Francisco, bound from Tacoma to Port Angeles to complete a lumber cargo for California, went ashore this morning at Jefferson head, on the western coast of Puget Sound, about 15 miles north of Seattle, according to radio advices received by the harbor department radio station.

FIGHT CALLED OFF

OAKLAND, March 19.—The Jimmy Duffy-Mickey Walker fight, tentatively scheduled to be held in Los Angeles, was declared off today, Tommy Simpson, Oakland, promoter, announced.

3-Cent Gasoline Tax Sponsors See Victory In Senate Committee

SACRAMENTO, March 19.—Sponsors of the proposed 3-cent gasoline tax to finance the state highway new construction program, led by Senator Arthur H. Breed of Piedmont, expressed confidence today they would be able to secure a "do pass" recommendation for the increased gas levy at a meeting of the Senate revenue and taxation committee tonight. The public debate on the issue, which will be staged at a joint meeting of the Senate and Assembly revenue and taxation committee, will probably be followed by an executive session of the Senate committee to consider a motion to pass the measure out with favorable recommendation.

RELATIVE OF LOCAL PEOPLE KILLED IN MIDWESTERN STORM

Niece of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Price of 631 East Palmer Dead, and Brother Of Mr. Price Seriously Injured

Mrs. Violet Powell, niece of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Price, 631 East Palmer avenue, Glendale, was instantly killed late yesterday in the tornado that swept over southern Illinois and Indiana. Harry Price, father of the dead woman and brother of J. C. Price, was seriously injured at the same time.

Information to this effect was contained in a telegram from Vienna, Ill., received here today. Mrs. Powell lived at Vienna with her husband.

It is believed her father, Harry Price, was visiting at her home at the time of the catastrophe. His home is at West Frankfort, Ill. No details were contained in the telegram save that Mrs. Powell was killed instantly and that her father is in a precarious condition. Further word was expected late this afternoon.

M'CLINTOCK QUIZ TAKES NEW TWIST

Cty Health Department Is Suspected Of Supplying Typhoid Germs

CHICAGO, March 19.—The ominous shadow of the McClintock death probe today hung over the city of Chicago itself as the state's attorney's office prepared to question former employees of the city's department of health in an effort to establish whether the typhoid germs alleged to have been administered to William Nelson McClintock could have come from the city's own laboratories.

The possibility was suggested by the official stationery of the National University of Science, the school headed by Dr. Charles C. Fauman, today under indictment with William D. Shepherd for murder, in connection with McClintock's death. On the stationery, as members of the school's faculty appear the names of Winfield S. Hoeger, now a city health inspector, and Dr. Harry Rand, formerly in the city's bureau of diphtheria control.

Dr. Rand was listed as the medical director of Fauman's school. He left the service of the city in 1924 when he failed to pass an examination for the position which he held as temporary appointee. Both he and Hoeger, whose death until February 9, 1925, had been attributed to typhoid germ cultures at the city laboratory, were to be brought to the state attorney's office with Miss Alvera Armstrong, a clerk in the health department, with whom Fauman is said to have been friendly.

This examination was to be the focal point of the state's investigation today. Distinct from this, however, was the probe being conducted by Judge Harry Olson, friend of the McClintock family and "counsel for the dead." He announced that, with Shepherd indicted for Billy's death, he would again turn his attention to the death of Dr. Oscar Olson, his brother, who he declared, died under peculiar circumstances a short time after Shepherd had visited him.

HURT FIGHTING FIRE

NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—Several men were seriously injured this afternoon in fighting a fire on the steamship Bienville, pride of the Southern Pacific fleet.

10,000 Homeless As Fire Sweeps Jap City

TOKIO, March 19.—A total of 1700 homes were destroyed, causing property damage of $2,000,000 and 10,000 were made homeless in yesterday's fire which swept Nippori, workingmen's suburb of Tokio, a check showed today. One hundred persons were injured but no deaths have been reported.

$4,000,000 FIRE HITS PALM BEACH

Famous Resort Hotel Total Loss; Three Persons Believed Lost

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 19.—Despite persistent tales that two unidentified children and a nurse burned to death in the fire which started in a wing of the Breakers hotel here late yesterday, leaving this hotel and the Palms hotel in smoldering ruins, no known dead had been found by investigating officers this afternoon.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 19.—Three persons are believed to have lost their lives in a fire which ruined two hotels and caused $4,000,000 property damage in the famous resort of Palm Beach last night. The flames were brought under control after dynamite had been obtained and made ready for blasting a path between the flaming buildings and other structures.

During the conflagration it was learned that the postoffice in West Palm Beach had been looted of $20,000 and the West Palm Beach company of Florida Infantry was called out to patrol the streets and prevent further looting.

Three Persons Missing
Thousands of dollars in valuable wearing apparel and other chattels of guests whose fortunes run into millions of dollars today lay on the ground, carried from the blazing hotels by the owners and servants. This also is under guard of the soldiers.

The Breakers, one of the oldest and best known of the resort hotels, was the first structure to take fire.

The three believed to have perished are two children and their nurse. The father of the children, refusing to give his name, but who said he was captain of a yacht anchored in the lake, declared he left his two children and their nurse asleep in the Breakers.

Pacific Mail Outbids Dollar Line For Ships

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Pacific Mail Steamship Co. was apparently the successful bidder today for five passenger liners now being operated out of San Francisco in the Oriental trade, it was announced by the shipping board today. The Pacific Mail offered $6,750,000. The Dollar line was low with a total cash bid of $5,625,000, but failed to bid on five of the liners it now operates out of Seattle.

10,000 Homeless As Fire Sweeps Jap City

TOKIO, March 19.—A total of 1700 homes were destroyed, causing property damage of $2,000,000 and 10,000 were made homeless in yesterday's fire which swept Nippori, workingmen's suburb of Tokio, a check showed today. One hundred persons were injured but no deaths have been reported.

BATTLE OPENS IN ASSEMBLY ON RIVER PROJECT

Weller of Glendale In Opposition to Move Against Hoover

SACRAMENTO, March 19.—Arguments in favor of the adoption of the resolution ratifying the new six-state Colorado river pact, was presented today to the Assembly of the California Legislature by Assemblyman A. J. Finney, Brawley, and Isaac Jones, Ontario.

Assemblyman Frank Weller, Glendale, opposed and Assemblyman Henry Carter, Los Angeles, advocated the middle course by no action being taken at all.

Assemblyman Weller of Glendale, who, with Sid Graves of Los Angeles, authored in the Assembly the Hoover resolution, said that he had great confidence in State Engineer McClure and his aid, Mr. McKissick, and as they had pronounced in favor of the Hoover resolution he accepted their decision as from men thoroughly acquainted with the facts.

Finney pleaded for a high dam at or near Boulder canyon. The fight is one between the power interests and the people of the Imperial valley. Secretary of Commerce Hoover today sent telegrams to members of the Legislature asking for ratification without reservation, assuring them the administration favors a flood-control dam.

Voted by Governor
Holding in effect that the measures were "special legislation" and violative of the constitution, Governor Richardson today vetoed the following validating acts:

A. B. 104, to validate the California irrigation district in Tulare county.
A. B. 485, by Weller, to validate the Little Rock midland irrigation district in Antelope valley, Los Angeles county.
A. B. 902, by Johnson, to validate the Lucerne irrigation district in Kings county.

Thirty-Four Men Still Held Captive In Mine

BARRACKSVILLE, W. Va., March 19.—Thirty-four men are still entombed here in the Bethlehem corporation mine, where they were caught 300 feet below the surface by an explosion Tuesday night, and unless all signs found in the mine fail, the miners will be brought out dead, according to many of the rescue workers. Fire which broke out in the mine late yesterday was holding back rescue work.

Assembly Passes Bill To Tax Oleomargarine

SACRAMENTO, March 19.—By a vote of forty-nine to nineteen, the Assembly today passed the Johnson bill taxing oleomargarine 2 cents a pound. Action followed a call of the House and re-consideration is predicted for tomorrow.

EX-SENATOR CULBERTSON DIES

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Ex-Senator Charles Culbertson of Texas died at his home here today after a short illness of pneumonia.

TEN-DAY PRISONER TRIES SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—Believed to have been humiliated because he was given a ten-day jail sentence for disturbing the peace, Charles Braham, 48, attempted suicide in the county jail today by slashing his throat and wrists. Authorities said they believed he would recover.

MOTORIST PARTY OF THREE KILLED

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—Wild peals of laughter were suddenly changed to shrieks of fear and groans of pain here today when an automobile, traveling at a high rate of speed, skidded more than 200 feet on West Washington boulevard, finally crashing into a telephone pole, and ending in the death of a woman and two men. The dead: Miss Fannie Hays, who died before aid could reach her; S. Fitz and J. G. Oaks, killed.

BULLETIN!

CHICAGO, March 19.—Between 850 and 1000 killed, some 3000 injured and more than 6000 homeless—this was the semi-official casualty record of yesterday's $100,000,000 tornado available this afternoon, as the five states in which it spent its fury continued the monotonous counting of their dead.

Illinois, Red Cross tabulations at 2 o'clock showed, contributed a quota of 638 lives, a large percentage of which were those of school children in towns in southwestern Illinois—

CHICAGO, March 19.—A path of desolation, strewn with approximately 1,000 known dead and more than three times that number of injured, many of whom will probably die, stretched through five states today in the wake of the tornado which yesterday whirled out of northwestern Arkansas.

News to Receive Funds For Storm-Swept Area

The eyes of the nation today are turned to grief-stricken, storm-swept Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri, where a terrific tornado yesterday took an appalling toll of lives and caused millions of dollars' worth of property damage. Thousands of persons in the path of the storm are homeless today, for buildings that were not crumpled by the force of the wind were razed by fire which followed in the wake of the storm.

List of Identified Dead

CHICAGO, March 19.—Following are the names of the identified dead in yesterday's tornado:

At MURPHYSBORO, ILLINOIS:
Cooper Stout, former United States marshal; Mary Boston, daughter of Chief of Police Joe Boston; B. A. Osland, superintendent M. & O. shops; Ben Habermelle, foreman boiler room, M. & O.; Frank Hough, M. & O. shops; Mrs. James Gibson, wife of postmaster; two children of John Stevenson; John Davis; Dave Ellis; John Habermelle, Jr.; Mrs. Frank Baker and two children; Howard Franz, high school student; John Swafford; William Maxey; Mrs. Thomas Loy and two children; Arthur Dunn, son of Illinois Central ticket agent; Mrs. Wallace Blacklock; Frances Hamner; Bernard Sheley; Mildred Zukor; Mrs. Sam Rodman, burned to death; Frank Keough; Frank Barom; Mildred Pucker; Bernard Shelly; Margaret Neal; Austin Boy; Hellett Boy; Mrs. Spank-Hiss; Miss Arthur Pelson; Miss Banbridge; Miss Dickson; George Hughes and daughter; Mrs. S. O. South; Mrs. Elma Beasley and her son Richard; James and Jean Greenen, six-weeks-old twins, mother badly hurt; Ethel Richards, telephone operator, killed at switchboard; mother was fatally injured at same time; Helen Watts, school girl; Mrs. Martin Bass; Margaret Neil, school girl; Shankless; Morrison, 11-year-old girl; Bobby Craig, schoolboy; Joseph Bullar, 9-year-old schoolboy; Mrs. Henry Bullar; Mrs. West Woods; Frank Woods; Miss Bell; Miss Temple; Garrett Kiefer, schoolgirl; Mrs. Bourland; Mrs. M. M. South and daughter; Lucille Poulton; Mrs. John Bratch and twin daughters.

At BUSH, ILLINOIS:
A family (Stoneham), consisting of nine members; three were killed and three probably fatally injured. The family was taken to the hospital at Herrin. Twin daughters of James Berringer; Charles Beaver and Joseph Muskari.

WEST FRANKFORT, ILLINOIS:
Mrs. Viola Powell; Mrs. Olla Heller; Mrs. Joseph Butler; Mrs. Joseph Hande and baby; C. L. Hicks; Nan Kelly; Mrs. Burton; George Ford, wife and daughter; Mrs. Charles Campbell; G. L. Ritzell; Mrs. Briggs; J. H. Bean; Mrs. Charles Fisher; Mrs. Clark; Fred Briggs; Ordell Karnes; Arna Karnes; Mrs. Hattie Neibel; Joe Watson and Pearl Watson.

At McLEANSBORO, ILLINOIS:
Mrs. Randall Bullard; Mrs. Charles Webb; Wesley Chuck, farmer and son; Emily Boyd; Mrs. John Ray; Lon Smith and his family of three; Sam Flannigan; Emory Lloyd; Mr. and Mrs. Randall Ballard; Mrs. Bob Ballard and two children; Mrs. Parrit Ty-

Murphysboro, West Frankfort, Desoto—where the storm played its grimmest gambol of death.

Indiana's dead was placed at between 150 and 200. A total of 100 bodies already have been recovered and rescue workers say the ruins at Princeton, Griffin and Owensville probably cover half as many more.

In Missouri, the latest figures estimate the dead at 31. Tennessee paid its tribute of 25 dead and 200 injured and Kentucky, touched by the edge of the death-laden twister, reported eight dead and some fifty injured.

day whirled out of northwestern Arkansas. Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee paid their toll to the "black monster of the sky." And in those states today's dawn broke over some thirty-three towns in blackened ruins which mercifully hid the mangled dead. Scores of bodies are believed to have been cremated in the flames which followed the tornado and added to the terror of the night.

It will be days, possibly weeks, before anything approximating an accurate check on casualties can be made. Almost hourly come new reports of dead and injured as crippled wire communications are partially restored in the stricken area. And even in the more populous centers the demoralization brought by the death-laden wind has prevented effective rescue work or any orderly reports on the loss of life.

First reports bearing any resemblance to authenticity were received this afternoon from Desoto, Murphysboro and West Frankfort, the three southern Illinois towns which bore the brunt of yesterday's cyclonic disturbance, and carried information lowering the death toll for Illinois.

Latest Figures on Disaster

Latest figures, representing estimates of Red Cross officials, placed the known dead at approximately 616.

Former estimates were lowered on Murphysboro from 400 to 150; on West Frankfort from 450 to 102 and at Desoto from 250 to 158.

Of the injured throughout the stricken areas it was estimated perhaps twenty had slight chances for recovery.

The extent of the property damage, residents of the storm-swept sections have not even attempted to estimate. Some rescue workers say it will run to $50,000,000; others believe $150,000,000 will be nearer. From the panorama of destruction, with its scores of towns virtually annihilated, state authorities admit they are unable to evolve any figures which they would be willing to offer as a damage estimate.

The United States weather bureau at Chicago today charted the path of the storm as a strip less than half a mile wide through Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. It first struck near Annapolis, Mo., lifted across the Mississippi river and struck with renewed fury on the Illinois border.

Here the towns of Murphysboro, Gorham, Carbondale, De Soto, Duquoin, Bush, Tamaroa, Centralia, Benton, Logan, Parish, Frankfort and West Frankfort and Thompsonville were in its path.

Tornado Continues Disaster

Completing its devastation there, it again lifted as it sped eastward, descending again near the eastern border of the state, where Crossville and Carmi felt its breath of death.

Then the monster entered Indiana, leveling Princeton and Griffin and other towns near the Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky state lines.

Still unchecked, the course of the storm turned southeast over Kentucky and Tennessee and these states gave up their tribute to nature's fury. The towns of Angle, Witham, Oak Grove, Sulphuria, Buck Lodge, Peatow and Gallatin in Tennessee were the hardest hit in this territory, reports today indicate. Thirty were reported dead at Gallatin and approximately fifty in the other Tennessee towns, which were reported

CATTLE MOVEMENT

AMARILLO, Texas, March 19.—The spring movement of cattle from Texas and the southwest between March 1 and June 30 is estimated at $62,000 head, about 12 per cent less than in the same period last year and the smallest since 1919.

FARE REDUCTION IS PROMISED AT WATER

Improvement Association Officials Are Told Rate Between Los Angeles and District to Be One Cent Less

Notification of a one-cent reduction in street-car fares between Atwater Park and downtown Los Angeles was given in a communication to the Atwater Community Improvement association from O. A. Smith, passenger traffic manager of the Pacific Electric. The fare will be reduced from 17 cents to 16 cents, according to the letter. The change will go into effect shortly.

Reduction of one cent in the fare to the central business district will not satisfy residents of Atwater Park. Secretary Paul Lipscomb and other officers of the improvement body stated today. The association will continue its efforts for a substantial reduction, disregarding the decrease announced in Mr. Smith's letter, they stated.

Expect Branch Bank

Establishment of a branch national bank in Atwater Park will be sought in a petition soon to be circulated under the name of the Atwater Improvement association. A special committee, yet to be appointed by President Arthur M. Gilman will circulate this petition in an effort to get sufficient signers to assure a bank for the district. It is declared that favorable action on a bill now pending before the state Legislature providing that a petition bearing the names of 20 per cent of the residents of a district be considered sufficient basis for the establishment of a branch bank, will assist Atwater Park in getting a banking institution of its own.

Judge Bledsoe To Speak

Federal Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, candidate for mayor of Los Angeles, will be the main speaker at the next meeting of the Atwater Community Improvement association to take place Monday night, March 23, at the Neighborhood Christian church. Judge Bledsoe has accepted an invitation to address voters of the Atwater district at this meeting, it was announced by Secretary Paul E. Lipscomb.

Dressmaking Class Open

Classes in dressmaking and millinery now being conducted at the Atwater Grammar school for housewives of the district are still open for enrollments. Persons can join the classes at any time and are privileged to attend as many sessions as desired, according to Miss Rosalind Gates, principal at the school.

Students Hear Concert

Thirty children of the upper grades at the Atwater grammar school attended the concert given by the Philharmonic orchestra at the Philharmonic auditorium, Los Angeles, Tuesday afternoon. The children were accompanied by Miss Audrey Clinton and Miss Grace Haskell, teachers at the school.

Change Prayer Meeting

A change in the prayer meeting services at the Atwater Baptist church marked the meeting last night. Heretofore Rev. M. Grant Nelson, pastor, has devoted some time to a short talk. In the future this time will be given over to Bible reading, discussion and answering of questions. Rev. Nelson announced at the service that commencing with the meeting on the first Sunday in April, the pastor's Bible class will take up the reading of the Scriptures starting with the first chapter of Genesis. Uniform Bible lessons will be dispensed.

Baptist Church Notes

Members of the Girls' Sunshine class at the Baptist church, under the leadership of Mrs. Norman Smith, teacher, will give a supper at the church next Tuesday night. Meetings of the Baptist church choir will be held on Thursday nights, commencing with tonight, instead of on Friday night, as has been the custom in the past, according to F. R. Anderson, choir director. The hour of the meeting will remain 7:30 o'clock.

Lampton At Conference

E. E. Lampton, candidate for the Los Angeles City Council from the First ward and resident of Atwater Park, is in attendance at a conference of union carpenters being held at Monterey. He will return to Atwater Park the latter part of the week.

Personals From District

Mrs. M. L. Cottle, 3511 Greenward road, is recuperating at her home after a severe attack of tonsillitis.

Mr. and Mrs. William Longley, 3723 Boce avenue, who have been in the east on business, will return to Atwater Park in about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ward, 3719 Revere avenue, have moved to a ranch near Walnut Park. William H. Burr, 3109 Perilla avenue, will move his family to their new home, recently completed, on York boulevard the latter part of this week.

Aviator Stationed In Honolulu Visits Here

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Pierce of 205 East Maple street, have as their guest their nephew, Lieutenant H. A. Moore, of the aviation corps, U. S. A., stationed at Honolulu. He plans to sail March 26 for his post. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce were among the Glendale people attending the reception Tuesday night in Los Angeles for the grand matron and patron of the Order of Eastern Star. Mrs. Pierce was accompanied by Mrs. Mina Wenzel, who sang. Today Mrs. Pierce read at the Optimist club luncheon, Burbank. Mrs. Fern Carlock of Glendale, also was on the program.

50 Babies Claim $500 Under Politician's Will

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—Parents of fifty babies in various parts of the country already have filed claims for $500 to be given under the will of David H. Lane, Philadelphia political leader, who died January 24, to every namesake who bears the name "Lane." "David Lane" or "David H. Lane."

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Rollyn Conrad of 413 Hawthorne street announce the birth of a son, Tuesday, March 17, 1925, at Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. George A. Whitaker of Hawthorne street are the maternal grandparents. Mrs. Conrad having been Miss Ruth Whitaker.

Used By Millions Of Mothers For Croup and Colds

Over 98 million jars of Vicks have been used in the past five years. This means the unbroken confidence of a vast army of mothers. They like Vicks because it solves a great problem—how to treat croup and colds without that continual dosing, which is so harmful to delicate little stomachs.

Being applied externally Vicks does not disturb the digestion. It can be freely used without the slightest harmful effect.

Vicks brings prompt relief from croup and often checks even the worst cold overnight. There is nothing to swallow. You just rub it on.

E. J. STANTON IS CALLED BY DEATH

Pioneer Resident Of City Passes Away At Home Wednesday Morning

E. J. Stanton, for fifteen years a resident of Glendale, died Wednesday morning, March 18, 1925, at his home, 206 Western avenue, Glendale, at the age of 62 years. Mr. Stanton formerly made his home at Orange street and Broadway. He had owned his ranch on Western avenue for four years and built a home there. He had resided in California twenty-five years and had been in the bakery business. He was a native of New York.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Grace L. Stanton; a son, Glenn R. Stanton, of Glendale; two sisters, Mrs. L. M. Judd of 1137 San Rafael street, Glendale, and Mrs. Mildred Clark of Michigan; three nieces, Mrs. William R. Wilbur of Glendale, Mrs. Jack Law of Los Angeles and Mrs. Walter Hamp of Ovid, Mich.; and two nephews, Claude Clark of Lansing, Mich., and Charles Porter of Muskegon, Mich. Mr. Clark was a member of the First Methodist church of Glendale.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park. Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris will officiate.

FLOYD ALBERT GRAHAM

The Little Church of the Flowers was filled yesterday afternoon with the relatives and friends of Floyd Albert Graham, essayist, short-story writer and Tujunga-Sunland correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, who died Monday, March 16, 1925, at Tujunga, aged 29 years.

The final services were brief and simple, as the deceased would have wished, and the pastor was his particular friend, known to the whole upper valley as Rev. "Bill" Smith, of the Sunland Baptist church. Standing beside the casket, amid a score of floral wreaths, he told in a few sentences the biography of Floyd Albert Graham, who was born July 23, 1894, near Beatrice, Neb., and had resided in and near Los Angeles for the past twenty-two years.

He told how he had served as a cashier with the Union Oil Co. until 1922, when a severe attack of pneumonia broke his health. He then went to Tujunga where he took up writing, becoming well-known as the author of "Graham Crackers," a popular feature in The Glendale Evening News. Toward the last, when his illness became critical, his friends and associates expressed their loyalty by doing much for his comfort and happiness.

Rev. Smith told of the unflinching cheerfulness of Floyd Albert Graham, and of his pleasing personality. He told of the long talks they had had together, on the elemental things of life, declaring that the deceased was deeply religious and found peace in divine love.

All the while Rev. Smith talked, and particularly when he read the solemn and beautiful verses of the twenty-third Psalm, many birds poured out their music from gardens to right and left of the little church, mingling their voices with the fragrance of many flowers, until a spirit of unearthly rapture not of death but of life seemed to come down and be in that still room.

"Rock of Ages" and "No Need of Shadows" were sung in duet by Mrs. J. E. Leonard and Mrs. N. C. Berry, and at the conclusion of Rev. Smith's address, Mrs. Leonard sang an original composition, "Eternity."

The relatives and friends of Floyd Albert Graham then filed slowly by the casket for a last look into the face, reposed and peaceful in death. Interment then took place at Forest Lawn Memorial park, in charge of W. F. Brown, well-known Tujunga mortician.

Among the members of the family present were: Mrs. Dora Graham of Tujunga, the widow; Mrs. Stella Graham of Pasadena, the mother; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Rugg, father and mother of the widow; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Rugg, brother and sister of the widow; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Noyes, representative from the Modern Woodmen of America, of which he was a member, and numerous friends from Los Angeles and the upper valley.

LEWIS S. KAISER

Lewis S. Kaiser died Wednesday night, March 18, 1925, at his home, 621 West Milford street, at the age of 74 years. He was born in Van Wert, Ohio, and had lived in California two years. The last year he had lived in Glendale. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Ellen M. Kaiser; a daughter, Mrs. Frances M. Robinson; and a son, Arthur L. Kaiser of Terminal. He was a member of the Odd Fellows' lodge in Alexander, Minn. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park. Kiefer & Eyerick, directors.

MRS. MARY MAGEWAN

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Magewan, who died March 18, will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Co., 137 North Orange street. Interment will take place in Rosedale cemetery.

Alturian Club Planned Organized In Glendale

Former members of Rotary clubs who are living in Glendale are asked to get in touch with J. M. Whittingham, at 131 South Brand boulevard, who is contemplating the organization of a Glendale chapter of the Alturians. Membership in the Alturians, according to Mr. Whittingham, is limited to persons who have been members of a Rotary club, but lost their classification by moving to another city. Mr. Whittingham appeared before the Rotary club at noon luncheon meeting today and outlined his plan. The movement is international. He said, and the principles of the Alturians are in keeping with Rotary.

Grammar School Boys To Plan Summer Trip

Two hundred grammar school boys of Glendale who attended the Y. M. C. A. camp at Catalina island last summer will meet at the Glendale Presbyterian church tonight at 5:30 o'clock for dinner and a reunion. Plans for the camp this summer will be discussed. An indoor baseball game will precede the dinner. There will be songs, stunts and talks by Warren S. Slater, Dr. John Anderson, Secretary Rex C. Kelley and others.

Our Weather Man

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—Fair and warmer tonight and Friday was the weather forecast given out here today by the United States weather bureau for the next twenty-four hours. All southern California points reported clear weather this morning. The following temperatures were reported: Chicago, 28; Boston, 38; Denver, 34; Kansas City, 36; Phoenix, 50; St. Louis, 38; San Diego, 50; San Francisco, 48, and Los Angeles, 62.

Daily Greeting to News Readers

FOR MANY IT IS BETTER—

To stand for some ridicule than to fall for some invitations.
To be called a puritan than to be called loose.
To swallow a little pride than to start a lot of trouble.
To pay as you go than to be forced to go because you can't pay.
To believe a few things sincerely than many things half heartedly.
To lose an argument than to lose your temper.
To get the habit of economy than to get a raise in salary.

DISCOURAGES BUSINESS

The announcement that the United States Chamber of Commerce is taking steps to put a stop to government meddling with business is welcome news. Regulation and taxation of business are necessary and right, but when they are carried to the point of oppression they defeat their own purpose.

With conditions as they are today, a man hesitates to risk his money in the development of new undertakings. Taxes and regulation of business should be of such a nature as to encourage and not discourage development. Today a business man must reveal the workings of his soul to some prying official as well as maintain throughout the year elaborate and efficient machinery for figuring his income, unless he wishes to be held up as a criminal for making a mistake.

When a man knows that if he ventures in some new undertaking and reaps the reward of his industry and investment he must pay most of his earnings to the government his patriotism is likely to drop to the point where he buys tax-exempt securities and lets business go hang.

Unjust burdens and unjust regulations imposed upon the use of capital are hindering the legitimate development of the country.

The present trend is toward paternalism in government and a revision of government regulation and taxation of business is necessary if our democracy is to survive and flourish.

WILD FLOWER DAY

The time was only a few years back when half the area of the present city of Glendale was in vacant lots and acreage covered at this time of the year with bloom. Expansion and development are crowding the wild flowers farther and farther up the slopes of the hills and mountains and back into the farthest recesses of the canyons, and this onward march of progress is depriving us of one of our natural charms. It is desirable that homes and business blocks should take the place of vacant lots even if the lots were once covered with flowers, but we might make an effort to conserve some of this wild beauty about our homes and in sections that have not yet been built up.

Many cities of Southern California are observing Poppy Day, when the school children scatter the seeds of the golden poppy, California's own flower.

Glendale still has many vacant lots whose annual crop is weeds. It would be a tremendous improvement to have poppies, lupine, paint-brush and other flowers blooming on these lots in the spring as they once did. Poppies and lupine grow easily and bloom over a long period. Why not a poppy day or a wild flower day for Glendale?

AN OVERWORKED WORD

Why do reporters never grow up? was the query of a man who presented for inspection a newspaper recording the death of a man and his wife by electrocution while two children saw "the death of their aged parents. The victims were Peter Oehler, 54, and his wife, aged 50."

Years ago men and women used to grow old. At 40 a woman donned the habiliments of age and retired to the chimney corner, but even in that day a man was not thought to have reached the age of judgment until he was in his 50's. At 60 he was in his prime. Today we do not grow old at all, and yet these young writers humiliate us by referring to men like us as aged—never elderly or old, but always aged. There is some fascination about the word for those who are youthful.

A very active little lady who recently celebrated her golden wedding anniversary was very much irritated because she was referred to in the society columns of her home town newspaper as "the aged bride." It is true that the word aged does not imply in its meaning decrepit or senile, but in this age of eternal youth it is a term of reproach to all but those who take pride in their extreme age. Also, it is tautology, since the age of the person described as aged is always given.

SHORTAGE OF OIL

According to the New York Times, we are going to hear a great deal about the "prospective shortage of oil" before the year is out. No doubt this argument will be used to boost gasoline prices, for leaders in the industry are already predicting a marked increase in price.

According to the interior department, the production of gasoline has been increasing for several months past. During December, 1924, gasoline production in the United States broke all records, and the output was accompanied by record-breaking yields of kerosene, gas and fuel oils. And statistics show that the increase in demand has been very small.

Prices will probably rise, according to prediction, and the people will have no recourse, but they are not so gullible as to believe there is any excuse for it.

HIGHWAY PLANTING

"It doesn't take a lazy man to like shade nor an artist to love the beautiful," says the Santa Barbara Press, in asking the support of its readers for the Miller bill, now pending at Sacramento, which provides for a definite plan of tree-planting along the state highways of California. We cannot give too much attention to building roads, but visitors will doubly appreciate our fine highways if we provide the esthetic charm and the cooling shade of trees for them to enjoy while they ride. If any state in the union should have tree-lined highways it is California, and especially should our roads be bordered by those varieties of trees which are green the year round.

FINE FOR LEGISLATORS

Forty-eight members of the Ohio House of Representatives were fined $10 each for absence. Members who are absent without leave, it seems, are subject to such a fine for each day's non-attendance, which is entirely fair and just. When running for office these legislators took great pains to convince the people that they would be faithful servants on the job all the time. Barring some good excuse, there is no reason why the people's servants should not report for duty every day, just the same as employees of private business. It is only fair that they should be penalized for failure to do their duty.

A Little of That and She'll Be Working as Good as Ever Again

Improve Your Work, Don't Change It

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Somebody gave advice the other day to this effect: Improve your work; don't change it.

In other words, if you are dissatisfied with what you have to do, see that you do it better. Don't look for another job.

This rule, of course, has many exceptions. There are times when we find ourselves to be a square peg in a round hole. We don't fit. We must get a place in accordance with our taste and capacities.

But the thing to do is to see that what we have to do we are doing well. It is easier to do work better than to change it.

Many a man has dissipated all his energies and come to old age a failure simply because he has been constantly looking around for better conditions.

Ideal conditions do not exist. The only job that is perfectly satisfactory is the one that somebody else has. When we get to it and get to doing it we find that there are limitations.

If we make up our minds to overcome difficulties and remain where we are, and to make our job a better one by doing it better, we shall as a rule be more content.

The art of life after all is one of adjustment. There is no place where a man does not have to alter circumstances to suit himself. Those who are constantly looking about for some job that shall be ideal are disappointed.

The discipline called forth in adapting ourselves to our present situation is good for us.

One reason there are so many unhappy marriages is that men, instead of trying to adapt themselves to the situation, are looking about for a new one. No matter how attractive a woman may be at first, to live with one permanently calls for all our resources of adjustment.

No man is put in the ideal family. It is as rare to find an ideal marriage where everybody seems to be made in accordance with our wishes, as it is to find a rose without thorns. There are drawbacks to everything. Human life is not ideal. Indeed it is a poor stick whose ideals cannot outrun his conditions.

Therefore, if we bend our energies toward making ourselves more adaptable to conditions instead of seeking conditions more adaptable to us, we shall get along better in the long run.

Even those who have to contend with such a thing as chronic sickness or an incurable disease, find that after all a man's spirit is tested by his power of adaptation.

A girl who was born blind declared recently that she was perfectly happy. It is easy to inveigh against the limitations of blindness, but the road to happiness consists in adapting one's self to the inevitable.

The inevitable encloses us on all sides in this life as a man is enclosed by the walls of his room. It is better to accommodate one's self to those walls than to batter one's head against them.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

A. A. Galt of California thinks that ours is the Worst of Advice. He writes to the editor:

"I am surprised that you have printed in your usually excellent paper such rot as this, quoted as follows: 'Biology has shown us that no one can alter his own peculiar individuality, his moral character, his intellectual capacity and his temperament.'"

"Again, 'He must accept him (his fellowman) as an unalterable fact.'"

"This is to deny man's will power, his power of choice, and all possibility of progress, either by his own exertions or through the efforts and influence of others, a position so absurd, it seems to me, as to be an insult to ordinary intelligent people. If no person can be altered, then set the torch to all schoolhouses, all churches, and all printing offices. Dismiss all teachers, preachers, editors, and destroy a thousand other agencies that have to do with the betterment of the race. At least it should result in a radical reduction of taxes."

"I do not know who this Schopenhauer man is, but the name suggests that he might be related to some of the other Huns who did so much to destroy the world through dissemination of their hell-born theories of falsehood."

"It looks as though, after all we went through in the World War to combat the results of false propaganda, we might at least be delivered from the evil of having it continued at the present time here in this land."

I am glad to give space to Mr. Galt's interesting letter because it brings up a point worthy of attention. A wild notion got around in this country during the war, thanks to the hysterical Creel bureau, that the philosophy of Nietzsche and Schopenhauer caused Germany to plunge the world into war. No one who has ever read much of either can conscientiously subscribe to this idea.

Schopenhauer bitterly exclaimed: "In savage countries they eat one another, in civilized countries they deceive one another; and that is what people call the way of the world!"

"What are states and all the elaborate systems of political machinery, and the rule of force, whether in home or in foreign affairs—what are they but barriers against the boundless iniquity of mankind?"

"Does not all history show that whenever a king is firmly planted on the throne, and his people reach some degree of prosperity, he uses it to lead his army, like a band of robbers, against adjoining countries?"

"Are not almost all wars ultimately undertaken for purposes of plunder?"

"In the most remote antiquity, and to some extent in the Middle Age, the conquered become slaves—in other words, they had to work for those who conquered them and where is the difference between that and paying war taxes, which represent the product of previous work?"

I am always glad to hear from readers of this column.

Who's Who

Like Brig.-Gen. William Mitchell, whom he succeeds as assistant chief of the army air service, Lieut. Col. James Fehet rose from the ranks.

He served many years in the cavalry before he was transferred to the aviation service of the signal corps in 1917, when he became a qualified pilot.

He is now in command of the air service advance flying school, Kelly field, Texas.

He has not indicated his opinions in regard to the controversy over the proposal for a unified air force, which General Mitchell championed vigorously.

Lieutenant-Colonel Fehet has something of a reputation in army circles as a daring pilot.

The fact that he has been for several years an active flyer and that he made his way up from the ranks are believed to have had considerable weight with Secretary of War Weeks in formulating his recommendation to President Coolidge.

When he becomes the assistant air chief, on April 27, he automatically takes the rank of brigadier-general.

ORPHEUM TO HOLD OVER 'TED' LEWIS

High-Hatted Jazz King To Stay; Novelty Acts To Enliven Program

Ted Lewis, that high-hatted tragedian of jazz, enters his second week at the Orpheum Monday matinee March 23. That he would stay a second one was a foregone conclusion after his opening last Monday and with an entire change of programme numbers, all those who were delighted with his first week's program will be glad to renew acquaintance with new material.

Also the musical clowns that make up his band will echo with the chorus that Lewis has made famous, "Is Everybody Happy?" Adding pep, personality, and pulchritude to the act is Bobbe Arnst who is conspicuous by the absence of all but —.

The new bill is embellished with a number of acts known here by reputation of their personnel, but with new material.

Variety Promised
Leon Kimberly and Helen Page will be seen in a new skit, "The Heart Broker," giving expert advice to the love-lorn. Jack Princeton and Lillian Watson have a sketch full of laughs in "Too Late." Signor Friscoe, the expert xylophonist will have with him a Guatemalan ensemble.

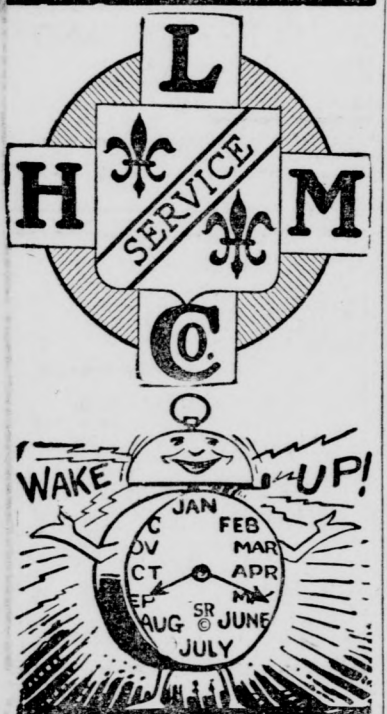

Bridie Reeve has a novel stage act as a world's record typist, whose vocabulary makes a dictionary look like a first grade speller. Kharum is a Persian pianist of parts; the Griffin twins are the Princes Charming of vaudeville, are Perez and Marguerite have a novelty of their own. Topics of the day and a news reel will complete the coming week's bill.

STAGE AND SCREEN

VIEWS AND PREVIEWS—NEWS NOTES FROM STUDIOS
Compiled By Members of The Glendale Evening News Staff

THE GLENDALE

Viola Dana in "The Heart Bandit" concludes today at the Glendale theatre. In addition, at 8:30 o'clock tonight, there will be a preview of Florence Vidor's new picture, "The Mirage." Viola Dana's picture will show again after the preview. Miss Dana is supported by a cast headed by Milton Sills.

Two Orpheum acts sent out by the Western Vaudeville Managers' association are on the boards today at the Glendale theatre. One is Grant Gardner, blackface comedian, in a clever monologue, "Direct From the Canary Islands." The other is a return engagement of Coster and Hewlett, billed as "Two Vet Voices."

Friday and Saturday the film feature at the Glendale theatre is Richard Talmadge in "On Time," a thrill-comedy said to be his fastest to date. "On Time" is an unusually fantastic story into which are woven, by turns, stunts of the most thrilling nature, melodrama that is swift-moving and filled with suspense and exciting action, and comedy of an exceptional vein that becomes uproariously funny. The theme revolves about the star, in the role of Harry Willis, a young man with nothing but a desire to make good, a justly supreme confidence in himself and a sometimes faithful valet of ebony hue, Mister Casanova Clay.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Family Night" will be celebrated at the Glendale Playhouse Tuesday night, March 31, when the Tuesday Afternoon club members, accompanied by husbands and children, attend the play in a body.

The entire auditorium will be reserved by the club, which will enjoy afterwards refreshments and a social hour at the clubrooms.

"Manna," destined in the belief of Director Fred Butler, who has been staging plays professionally for thirty years to be one of the wonder-plays of the season, will open on Monday night, March 23, at the Playhouse. It is a tremendous and reverent story of the power of faith, yet it is relieved and spiced by human comedy and much wholesome laughter.

Mother Of Three Is Given Miner's Wealth

HOLLISTER, Cal., March 19.—Mrs. Carmack Sattig, mother of three children, has received word a court order in Washington state had given her the $180,000 estate of her father, George Carmack, known as discoverer of the Klondike gold fields in Alaska. Carmack died in Vancouver, B. C.

WHEAT EXPORTS

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—Exports of wheat from this port in January and February totaled 3,057,181 bushels, an increase of 50 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The figures for February were 4,759,717 bushels.

NEW OIL WELL

DENVER, March 19.—A 1000-barrel well has been brought in by the Victor Munos interests on their Indian lease of the Rattlesnake dome, northwest of New Mexico. The Continental Oil Co. of Denver owns a half-interest in the lease.

THE GATEWAY

That age-old, never-ending dispute over the right of a woman to pick her own mate is revived again.

At the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio sentiment was divided over the question called up by the plot of "The Dixie Handicap," which will be seen at the Gateway theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

As the romance of the story comes to a climax Claire Windsor, the girl, proposes to Lloyd Hughes, playing the hero role.

In ancient times Amazon women used to carry their men off by force. The present-day flapper has not changed much in this respect, according to authors and sociologists.

But in the Gerald Beaumont racing story the heroine is not a flapper, and certainly not an Amazon. On the contrary, she is a conservative southern beauty, the type greatly sought after, and never the huntress.

Her aristocratic social position is the barrier which the hero, despite his love, feels he cannot overcome. The girl, returning this affection, realizes that he will not break his silence. So she decides not to sacrifice their happiness because of a straitlaced code of convention.

Miss Windsor agreed with the authors in this solution of the love complex, but Lloyd Hughes and Reginald Barker, the director, contended that the man should do the asking in any situation and any year.

Besides his romance, "The Dixie Handicap" has many thrills and a deal of pathos and drama. Besides Miss Windsor and Lloyd Hughes, the cast includes Frank Keenan, John Sainpolis, Oth Harlan, Joseph Morrison, Ruth King, Edward Martindel, Otto Hoffman and Loyd Underwood.

District Attorney Is Barred In Liquor Case

SACRAMENTO, March 19.—District Attorney Jesse W. Carter of Shasta county is disqualified to conduct the prosecution of John Vail, federal prohibition agent on a charge of murdering James S. White, a fish and game warden, during an argument at Castella in October, 1923. Attorney-General Webb declared in a letter to Assemblyman R. J. Anderson, of Redding.

Long Beach Advocates Site At Palos Verdes

LONG BEACH, Cal., March 19.—The Long Beach Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution directed to the Board of Regents of the state university recommending the adoption of the Palos Verdes site as the location for the southern branch university.

BUS COMPETITION

WORCESTER, Mass., March 19.—Officials of the Worcester Consolidated Street Railway believe they have solved the problem of bus competition in Leominster by issuance of weekly fare passes at 75 cents, good for an unlimited number of rides. Many cars have been necessary to care for the added traffic.

DENVER SCHOOLS

DENVER, March 19.—The Denver school board will shortly ask an additional bond issue of approximately $2,500,000 to finish its building program undertaken several years ago.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, March 19.—W. P. Coffman will be a candidate for a position on the Burbank High school Board of Trustees at the election of March 27, to fill the place made vacant by expiration of the term of Mrs. Homer Jones, clerk of the board. Mrs. Jones was appointed two and one-half years ago, to fill the vacancy caused by the removal from Burbank of T. B. McClintock. The term for which each school trustee is elected, is three years.

Following the election of a trustee each year, a reorganization of the board takes place. This comes the first part of May. The school trustee election will be held at the Edison school between the hours of 8 o'clock in the morning and 8 o'clock at night. The election officials are: T. B. Buffington, inspector; Mrs. Priscilla Griswold and Mrs. Margaret Pomeroy, judges.

Barbara Wright of Minneapolis talked yesterday afternoon before the High school P. T. A. on "Vocational Guidance." The meeting was held at the schoolhouse. The speaker is vice-president of the Minneapolis Vocational Guidance association and is an instructor in sociology at the Central High school of that city. She is in California on a leave of absence and is visiting with Mrs. R. C. Pickering of Sunset Canyon drive.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Meyer, accompanied by Mrs. O. F. Salk of Elkton, South Dakota; Mrs. J. A. Johnson of Mt. Vernon, South Dakota; Miss Marjorie Kent of Hollywood made up a party that motored to Santa Barbara recently. They saw the mission and

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, March 19.—The drive recently conducted by the local Realty board has netted a one-third increase in membership, reports H. G. Warren, president. These new members will have their first opportunity to meet their fellow members around the table tomorrow, when the regular weekly luncheon will be held at the Tumble Inn, on Casper avenue.

Writing from the steamship Massilia, en route to India, where other sights of the northern city. Mr. and Mrs. M. S. McNutt and baby daughter, Barbara Merl, are here for a visit with Mrs. May Clarke, Mrs. McNutt's mother, and her sisters, Mrs. Clarence Thompson, of 603 Verdugo avenue.

she has gone as a missionary. Miss Louanna McNary says:

"We rode off the coast of Portugal yesterday and saw land several times during the day. Today we were back to the Spanish coast and saw crags like the Santa Monica palisades. It looked so tempting, we wished we could jump out."

"I am reading the 'Sea Hawk.' The story has its setting off the coast of Spain so I am in the atmosphere and am enjoying it very much."

The Jolly Juniors of the Presbyterian church held a "Mothers' Tea" this afternoon, in charge of Miss Alette Oldfield, their advisor. The Intermediate and Junior High girls will meet at the church tomorrow afternoon. Arriving here recently from Rossville, Ind., Henry Berkheimer scanned the directory and found his old friend, E. E. Hufford of 2161 Ridge View avenue.

nue, who forty-two years ago used to share the rigors of farm and saw-mill life with him in Indiana on the banks of the Wabash.

It is needless to say the visit of last week by Mr. Berkheimer at Mr. Hufford's residence was a happy affair. Old time topics were gone over and incidents of by-gone days were rehearsed once again. Mr. Berkheimer and son Jesse and wife intend touring Southern California thoroughly before wedding their way north.

Mrs. William A. Slack of Chicago, Ill., has been visiting Mrs. Ona M. Blunt of Ellenwood drive.

For the Introduction of a Policy of Lower Prices

"We're Going After Volume—We're Going to Get It"

Without Lowering the Dignity and Prestige of Our Establishment and by Selling Merchandise of the Highest Character and Worth

We Want One Thousand New Customers in March and April and All of Our Patrons to Participate In This Tremendous Campaign for Increased Volume

Charged with Dynamite, so to speak, and broadcasted with Printers' Ink—this announcement starts a smashing blow at present day conventional merchandising methods.

This sudden change in our business policy was only made after many hours of deliberation and thought, and only then—when we felt we had something bigger and better to offer in our field of service to the community.

Four years ago John Wanamaker of New York and Philadelphia, one of the world's greatest merchants, startled the whole country with his "Reconstruction Message," a message that revolutionized the retail business.

Representative merchants in each city who quickly sensed the situation and immediately put their "house in order," were the ones who rendered real service to their respective communities.

Ed Nisle from the beginning of his business career in Glendale, has always tried to live up to his proud position in the city as its "leading clothier," and it is our duty to the community to adopt new policies and ideas when they are for the benefit of the general public.

Volume is the foundation of this "New Order of Things"—a policy that is as radical a change from present-day merchandising methods as Wanamaker's ideas were to those in practice four years ago.

Volume without the increase of overhead expense—volume without the loss of dignity and prestige, and without resorting to the selling of inferior merchandise.

As an institution of prominence in Glendale, cherishing only fine ideals—ours is not a store to resort to any selling scheme lacking the foundation of an honest and sincere purpose.

Saturday morning, March 21st, at 9 o'clock, we will begin a tremendous campaign for one thousand new customers—we say tremendous, and we feel justified in using the strong word, because it will be a campaign of value-giving without precedent in Glendale. We want new customers who do not know this store, its ownership and its quality merchandise. We want new customers who will become permanent, as a result of real savings on dependable nationally known apparel for men and young men.

Friday's Papers Will Be Charged With Dynamite,
Broadcasting In Bold Printers' Ink—Full Page of Savings on Nationally Known
Apparel For Men and Young Men Which Will Mean Liberal and Substantial Reductions on Quality Merchandise Right in the Beginning of the Easter Season

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Cold Hands and Feet

E—Cold hands and feet mean poor circulation, from some cause. I don't believe that you are getting sufficient physical exercise, nor sufficient food.

You are ten to twelve pounds underweight. Have you been following our gaining series? If you missed them, send for the booklet on gaining and don't forget to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with 10 cents in stamps. Increase your physical exercise and your diet gradually.

Here's Cheerful News!

"My Dear Doctor Peters: I am one of your devoted followers, for I am now the right and proper size, which means I am some fifty odd pounds less in avoirdupois than when I heard of your wonderful little book. And I have been on my maintenance diet for eleven months without gaining! Think of it!—Mrs. B."

This answers those who want to know if they always have to keep on dieting. Of course if Mrs. B. begins overeating now, she will undoubtedly gain, but now that she has gained knowledge of calories, she won't do that. I'm sure. And your food tastes have changed, haven't they, Mrs. B?

Inflammations Around the Nails
Mrs. D.—Inflammation around the root and sides of a nail are caused by many different factors—Injuries, pus infections and certain diseases. In most cases absolute cleanliness and the use of some antiseptic astringent is all that is necessary to make them heal. Occasionally the condition is so bad that the nails have to be removed for drainage, but that is not usual. You should wear gloves when your hands have to be in water.

For your treatment, soak them in hot water (as hot as you can stand) containing a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda to the quart of water and then sprinkle on them boric acid water. Sometimes painting with tincture of iodine once a day is effective.

You should see your physician and have a thorough physical examination and see if the condition is due to some general trouble.

The Flu

A. O. wants to know why a person who suffers from biliousness should year after year, have the flu, and if I advise taking steam baths to eliminate some of the poisons in the system which cause the flu.

Influenza is not caused by poisons in the system, A. O., but by the influenza germs. Of course there is some other factor causing the disease (or any other infectious disease) else everyone would be suffering during the epidemic. That other factor is the lowered resistance causing the tissues to be good soil in which these germs can grow.

As a rule, the fact that one suffers from biliousness shows that the eating habits are not right. One of my professors used to say that biliousness means pigstitching. Do you overeat?

So-called bilious attacks may be reflex from some abnormal condition in the body, however. They are not always due to overeating.

Are you getting a diet that is sufficiently high in vitamins and mineral elements? Experimentally, it has been shown that the mucous membranes, as well as other organs of the body, become less resistant to disease if the diet is lacking in vitamins.

The only thing I can suggest is that you look well to your diet and exercise and your other hygienic measures which will build up your resistance. You can get good books on exercises in any of the stores, which will answer your question about those.

Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible. Do not exceed 200 words, and write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith and do not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much your interest in me, if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

The uses of mercerized rayon silk in the home are becoming more and more numerous. The efficient housewife appreciates this pretty material which requires no ironing. For the sake of the young house-maker who has not yet become familiar with this variety of cotton goods, I will describe it.

It comes in stripes about one inch wide—alternate pink and ecru stripes, blue and ecru stripes, yellow and ecru stripes, lavender and ecru stripes and many other color combinations. In most shops it is priced around $1.50 a yard and is forty-one inches wide (although prices vary in different localities). It is shot through with a sort of invisible design in mercerized cotton thread, which gives it a silky sheen.

There is also a variety of all-cotton rayon on the market (that is, exactly the same as the mercerized rayon in regard to colors and width, but lacking the silky sheen). This all-cotton rayon, or searsucker, costs but 69 cents in most stores and is very nearly as effective as the higher-priced variety.

At first, when this new material appeared in the shops, we saw it used chiefly for bed spreads. But now we see it made into bureau scarfs, laundry bags, bedroom window overdrapes, slip covers for boudoir pillows, and in many other ways. I have been particularly attracted by the bureau scarfs and am going to describe them as I believe that many housewives will wish to make them.

Tomorrow—Help From Readers

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Evening News" department will be answered in these columns in their own time. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quick answer is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

RESTORING THE FIGURE

The woman who has a child loses her figure for a time. If she loses it permanently, it's her own fault. It costs nothing and takes very little time, to restore the figure to its original firm slimmest of outline, and to keep it all ways slim and elastic and young. To an extent, your face is as Nature and your forefathers gave it to you, but your figure is your own, to make slim or plump, as fashion or your type demands, to keep young, as your own inclination tells you. And where you cannot improve, some clever dressmaker is sure to design a style of dress which can be adapted to you to cover up what can't be altered.

Now then—a week before the baby is born, begin exercising in bed. Pull one knee to the chest, straighten the leg up, lower slowly. Repeat with the other leg. Increase to several times, twice a day, and then do it with both legs at a time. More than anything else, this exercise will reduce waist and hips and make firm the abdominal muscles. Don't get up too soon, take it easy, even if that means imposing on someone else in the matter of work for some weeks. Six weeks after the child is born, your body will be normal, but you'll continue to lose flesh around the waist.

Keep on exercising. Do waist bending, leg swinging exercises. Lie flat on the floor and sit up straight without any help from your arms. That's a splendid one. Wear some sort of corsets for about a year. You may need the merest wisp of silk or net as a hip girder and karter, but you need something as a support until those muscles are as strong as ever.

Three Birthdays

The birthdays of Mrs. John Brown, Wayne R. Smith of Glendale, and Kenneth White of Los Angeles, were celebrated last night at the Smith home, 302 North Maryland, at a dinner party given by Mrs. Smith. Mr. Brown and Mrs. White. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock on a table with bright centerpieces of varied spring flowers. Jonquils were the predominant floral feature. The placecards bore handpainted sketches of these flowers. A white birthday cake with yellow candles was served with the final course. Later bridge games were enjoyed with Mrs. Brown and Mr. Stowers holding high scores. There were present Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth White, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ayers, Manning of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stowers, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sadler, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Balthis, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne R. Smith.

Birthday Party

St. Patrick's day furnished inspiration for the party given Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Wood, 417 West Garfield avenue, in celebration of the twelfth birthday of their daughter Phyllis. Mrs. Wood was assisted by her daughter, Miss Cora Wood, and Miss Ethel Leash. Games and music were entertainment features. Fancy dances were given by Gertrude Springer, and an Italian dance by Martha Warfield and Phyllis Wood. A buffet supper was served. There were present Martha Warfield, Gertrude Springer, Jean Trudeau, Katherine Galor, Margaret Dampf, Orville Markley, Patricia Phall, Dorothy Leash, Phyllis Wood, Donald Patterson, Bill Brewer, Charles Brown, James Knogh, William Magnus, Virgil Davis, Mark Bell, Howard Chittenden, Everett Scott.

Birthday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brown of 321 South Lincoln avenue, entertained Tuesday night at a St. Patrick's party, the affair celebrating Mr. Brown's birthday. A four-course dinner was served at 7 o'clock for sixteen. St. Patrick's placecards and favors were decorations on the table. A birthday cake was an added feature. Bridge was the diversion of the evening, prizes being awarded to Mrs. L. F. Schaefer. Mrs. Clark Dresser, R. K. Snow and Robert Magnus. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Snow, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morrell, Mrs. Louise Magnus and son, Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Dresser, of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Schaefer, Mrs. Louise Lansing and son, Edwin, and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Zahn of Hollywood.

Law Club Meets

Mrs. Henry Greenwalt, president, will report on the recent district presidents' council at the meeting at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning of the Parliamentary Law club of Glendale, at the public library. The study and drill will be on subsidiary motions.

Oakmont Tea

Oakmont Country club was the setting yesterday for the weekly bridge tea. Prizes for bridge games were won by Mrs. F. H. Lanterman and Mrs. Rush. Tea was served by Mesdames Percy Hayselden, A. M. Beamon and Harry Ellison.

Church Wedding

At a candlelight wedding ceremony performed this afternoon, Thursday, March 19, 1925, at 4 o'clock in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park, Miss Alice Farrow of 214 West Doran street and Donald Logan Porter of Schenectady, N. Y., were married. Rev. Harry I. Rasmus, assistant pastor of First Methodist church, performed the ceremony. A large company of relatives and friends were in attendance. White Easter lilies artistically arranged with ferns and palms were used to form a background for the ceremony. Cathedral candles furnished light for the wedding, casting a soft glow over the church.

Proceeding the ceremony Elmer Fitz of Glendale sang "Because" (de Hardelet) and "At Dawning" (Cadman). Miss Elaine Buttrud of Glendale played the accompaniment for Mr. Fitz, and later the Lohengrin's wedding march as the bride and groom entered the church. Miss Buttrud wore a pink satin crepe dress with a black picture hat. Her bouquet was a corsage of violets.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Dr. C. G. Farrow. She was becomingly gowned in white satin crepe, trimmed with white satin heads and pearls in design to form a circular motif. She wore a wedding veil of white silk tulle in double ruff effect, held in place with a triple orange-blossom bandeau, with showers of orange blossoms on the side. Her bouquet was a shower of white roses and freesias.

Miss Josephine Farnham of Glendale was maid of honor. She wore an orchid crepe de chine trimmed with batik flowers in pastel shades. Her hat was a poudre blue and orchid French picture hat. She carried a shower bouquet of lavender sweetpeas and daffodils. Miss Virginia Farnham, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Her dress was canary yellow crepe de chine trimmed with handmade flowers. She wore a white picture hat trimmed with a white magnolia on the side. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of yellow freesias.

C. G. Farrow, Jr., brother of the bride, acted as best man. Little Betty Jean Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver O. Clark of Glendale, was ring bearer. She wore a fluffy blue taffeta frock and carried the ring in a calla lily. After the ceremony Mendessohn's wedding march was played as the bride and groom left the church. A wedding dinner for the immediate family was served after the ceremony.

Mrs. C. G. Farrow, mother of the bride, wore a blonde frost crepe dress with side drape and handmade flowers. Her hat was a clever picture hat of horsehair braid and was trimmed with two chrysanthemums in contrasting shades. She wore a corsage bouquet of sweetpeas.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter will spend two weeks touring Southern California before leaving for New York. En route east they will stop at Quinter, Kan., to visit Mr. Porter's parents. They will make their new home at Schenectady, N. Y., where Mr. Porter is engaged in business.

For traveling Mrs. Porter wore a tailored beige frock with suit trimmed with military braid and buttons, with white blouse trimmed with russet and grey-colored water lilies.

Mrs. Porter is the eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Farrow of 214 West Doran street. She graduated from Glendale High school in June, 1923, and last year attended University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo., where she and Mr. Porter met, the marriage today being a culmination of a college romance.

Mr. Porter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry U. Porter of Quinter, Kan. He graduated in 1924 from the electrical engineering college at the University of Colorado. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi, Eta Kappa Nu and of the American Institute of Engineers. He is now with the General Electric Co., at Schenectady, N. Y.

At Sunset Club

Members and guests of Auction Science Bridge club were entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Gerald Blue of 1321 Valley View road at the Sunset Canyon Country club. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock at a table made attractive with spring blossoms. Mesdames Hugh Blue, Durham Porter and H. T. Balthis were guests. Prizes were awarded to Mesdames W. T. Burton and E. P. Hayward. The club will meet with Mrs. Darwin Chesney of Los Angeles, April 1. Members present were: Mesdames William M. Pherson, Heloise Bordeaux, E. P. Hayward, W. T. Burton, A. M. Give Card Party

A five-hundred party will be given tomorrow afternoon by the Rebekah Afternoon club at the Odd Fellows' hall, 201 West Broadway. Mrs. Evelyn Hall has charge of arrangements for the games. Prizes will be awarded to winners.

Housewarming

There was twofold significance to the St. Patrick's party given Tuesday night for teachers of the English department of Glendale High school, at the Robert Emerson Jones home, 456 Spencer place, for the affair was a housewarming for the new Spanish style home, and celebration of Mrs. Jones' birthday. Green tinted carnations and daffodils were floral features of the decoration. Green and gold were the colors used in appointments for the buffet supper served thirty guests. Shamrock designs in salad and ice cream, and Irish olive pipes further carried out the St. Patrick's idea. Divisions were writing Imericks, and Irish stories and the presentation of the department's wedding gift to Mr. and Mrs. Jones, whose marriage was an event of March 7.

At Arroyo Seco

Mrs. Fannie Beach has hostess yesterday to members of chapter A. H. P. E. O., entertaining them at her cabin in Arroyo Seco. Mrs. Lucille Eames as president, had charge of business procedure. In the afternoon a number of the women hiked to Oak Wild. Luncheon was served at noon by Mesdames Alice Gray Wellman, Grace Beach Simons, Fannie Beach, Misses Blanche Davenport and Helen Beach. Twenty-seven members and guests were present. The next meeting will be held April 1 at the home of Mrs. Grace Hobbs, 922 South Central avenue.

Eastern Star

Glendale chapter No. 422, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a business and social meeting Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the Masonic temple, South Brand boulevard. Mrs. Nellie C. Jennings, worthy matron, announces that several candidates will be initiated. Mrs. Maude Evans is chairman of the committee arranging for card games and a social time after the meeting. At the meeting on April 4, Russell B. La Fontaine, worthy grand patron, will confer degrees on sight on the master of Tujunga Blue Lodge and his wife. An Eastern Star chapter will be instituted at Tujunga at a future date.

Birthday Dinner

La Halla temple, Pythian Sisters, will hold a birthday dinner and meeting tomorrow night at the Knights of Pythias hall, South Brand boulevard and Park avenue. Birthdays of Mrs. J. M. Eyrieck and S. S. Holmes will be celebrated at the 6:30 o'clock dinner. Plans for the district convention, April 3, will be completed at the business meeting at 8 o'clock under Mrs. Melissa K. Dickson, most excellent chief.

Chapter Meeting

Chapter D. J. P. E. O., met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. H. Davis, 446 West Colorado street. Mrs. Francis Wiloth, newly elected president, was presiding officer. The afternoon was spent sewing for Glendale Red Cross. Mrs. Cross was a guest at the meeting. Mrs. Frank W. Parr, 224 South Orange street, will entertain members at her home April 1.

At Leaton Home

Mrs. Thelma O. Leaton of 1524 Idewood road, will entertain the Past Noble Grand's association of Arbor Vitae Rebekah lodge of Los Angeles all day Friday. The day will be spent tying comforters. Luncheon will be served at noon.

WINDSHIELDS FIGURE IN NEW LAW

Proposed Legislation Would Keep All Emblems Off
Auto Windshields

By SPARE TIRE
For Southern News Service
Written for The Evening News

Bathing beauties no longer will ride the windshields and windows of motorcars if the Legislature at Sacramento accepts J. M. Inman's amendment to the Breed motor vehicle law which is changed by Senate bills 599 and 600.

Not only will bathing beauties be barred, but lodge emblems and all other non-transparent signs will have to come off of the windshields and rear windows. However, nothing is said about the "wind wings" and for a few dollars you can provide your car with parking space for all of the pictures, designs or whatnot to the heart's desire.

License Problem

Licenses to operate cars will be more difficult to obtain under the terms of the amended bill, it is revealed by the new wording. The tickets will be either for private operating or chauffeurs, the latter being required to give greater proof of ability to drive than mere ownership. Also, to the motor vehicle department and its enforcement offices is delegated the right to require an examination.

Stiffer penalties for drivers who have the habit of giving fictitious names when arrested, as well as those failing to appear in court, are provided, but there is a little ray of light given owners of small cars with magneto-lighting systems now obsolete.

Flivver Favored

An amendment was inserted which gives the flivver owners until September 1, 1927, to wear out the machines of 1919 vintage or before.

Under the terms of the proposed law bicycle riders will be amenable to the motor vehicle act and they must keep to the right hand side of the road, as well as equipping their wheels with lights.

For those who would oppose these regulations the assembly committee may have the temerity to eliminate some of the amendments which necessitates the Senate's concurrence.

Widening of Turns On Ridge Route Is Begun

The work of widening the turns on the Ridge route, near Sandberg, is still in progress and, according to the touring department of the National Automobile club, will not be completed for approximately six months. The delay to traffic is insignificant.

Home Owners Given Warning By Auto Club

In an effort to prevent the tearing up of newly laid pavements for making gas, water and sewer connections, the Automobile Club of Southern California is placing warning placards on all city streets where improvements are to be made. It has been found in Los Angeles that paving has been laid in many instances where piping had not been brought to the curb line. The result is that great holes have to be torn in the smooth pavement whenever a new building is constructed.

Property owners are warned by the auto club placard that the street is to be paved and that the necessary connections for gas, light, sewer and water should be made before this is done to save their investment and prevent additional expense. It is believed that all cities in Southern California will adopt similar methods of averting losses from this cause.

'Don't Talk To Man At Wheel,' Warning

"Don't talk to the man at the wheel." This sign is suggested for motorists by a member of the Automobile club of Southern California who recently has been a victim of two automobile accidents caused in both instances by persons in the rear seat of the car engaging the driver in conversation and thereby taking his mind from the business of guiding the car. The club member suggests that it is a misdemeanor to talk to the motorist or bus driver and that all ships have notices posted conspicuously warning persons not to talk to the man at the steering wheel.

Redlands Favors Road Over Desert Property

Redlands has gone on record for the Morongo road, the proposed desert highway from Amboy to Redlands and Los Angeles by way of Twenty-nine Palms and Whitewater, according to advice received by the touring department of the National Automobile club. The Morongo pass road would eliminate approximately forty-five miles of desert from the transcontinental route. Nearly all the distance of the new road is over a fine hard surface which will provide splendid going.

Swarthout Canyon To Have Roads Improved

The Swarthout Canyon road improvement plan has been approved by the State Highway commission, according to a recent report received by the touring department of the National Automobile club and a survey is now under way.

STATE WAITS $1,500,000 AUTO FEES

California Expects Number
To Be Registered By End Of Year

Motor vehicle registration will amount to almost 1,500,000 this year, according to a statement received by the National Automobile club from the state's department of motor vehicles.

This registration shows the remarkable growth in the motor car industry since 1905 when the first car was registered in California. At that time, the registrations were handled by the secretary of state and the first registered motor-car owner in California was John D. Spreckels. The motor car was a "White Steamer."

In two years, the registration increased to more than 10,000 but until 1913, all registrations were handled by the secretary of state. The motor vehicle department was organized under an act of 1915 and since that time the work of the department has grown by leaps and bounds.

Important Bureau

The division of motor vehicles is now one of the most important departments of the state government. In a period of ten years, the growth of the motor car industry in California is clearly shown by a comparison of the registration figures. The automobile registrations between 1914 and 1925 are as follows:

Year	Autos
1914	123,516
1915	163,795
1916	232,440
1917	306,916
1918	364,800
1919	477,450
1920	552,934
1921	622,522
1922	822,394
1923	1,036,756
1924	1,125,381
1925	1,302,446

Will Marsh, chief of the division, has taken an active part in the development of legislation under the control of the motor-car owner from theft and which contributes to the safer operation of automobiles on the highways. This legislation has resulted in a decrease in the percentage of accidents in California and has made California one of the outstanding states in the union in the reduction of losses through automobile thefts.

Plans are now being made by the motor vehicle department for a state constabulary, organized and under the control of the motor vehicle department for traffic enforcement. Uniform laws for motor vehicles throughout the state with state enforcement of these laws, is one of the recommendations made to the Legislature this year in the biennial report of the California State Division of Motor Vehicles.

Malibu Ranch Road To Be Graded Along L. A.

After a long delay, due to litigation over rights-of-way, a contract has been awarded for the grading of the Malibu ranch on the Los Angeles coast, according to a recent report received by the touring department of the National Automobile club. The completion of the work will open a graded road along the coast from Santa Monica to Oxnard. The grading of approaches to the new Santa Ynez creek bridge north of Santa Monica has been completed and paving work will soon be finished.

Concrete Bridge For San Juan Creek Span

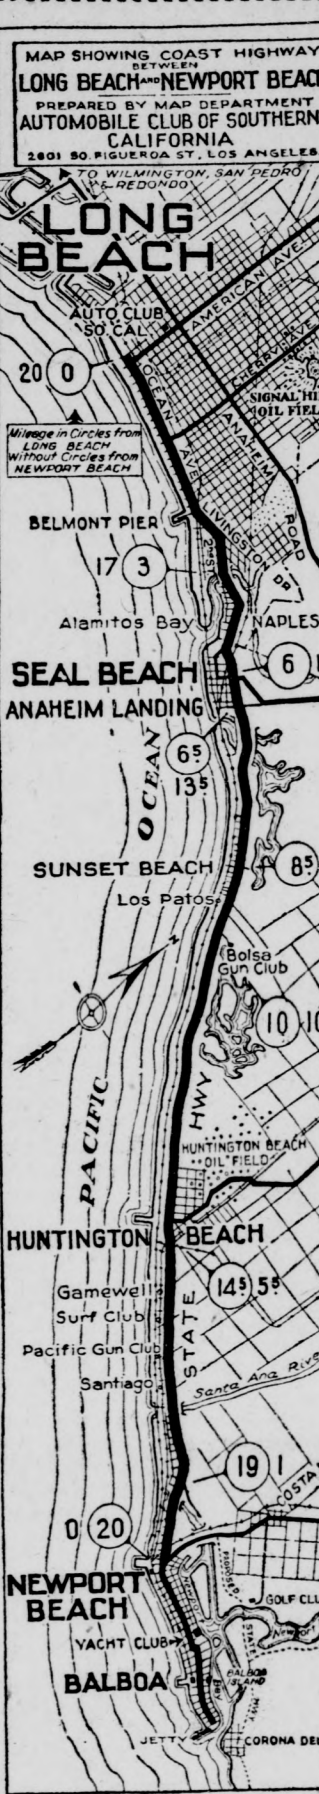

Bids below the engineer's estimate were opened by the state highway engineer in Sacramento, for the construction of a reinforced concrete bridge over San Juan creek on the Los Angeles-San Diego state highway, according to a recent report received by the touring department of the National Automobile club. The new structure will replace the inadequate wooden bridge erected a number of years ago following floods in San Juan creek.

Santa Ana-L. A. Road Endorsed By County

The Orange county Board of Supervisors has endorsed the proposed 100-foot highway between Santa Ana and Los Angeles and a preliminary survey has been ordered, according to the touring department of the National Automobile club. It is planned to construct the highway parallel to the Pacific Electric right-of-way between Santa Ana and Watts. From the latter city the boulevard would tap One Hundredth street in Los Angeles.

Coast Route

Map showing the new highway skirting the Pacific coast from Long Beach to Newport Beach, which will be opened Saturday.

South coast beach cities will fittingly celebrate Saturday, March 21, the completion of the state coastline highway between Long Beach and Newport Beach. The new road places Los Angeles motorists in most direct touch with Alamitos, Bay, Naples, Seal Beach, Anaheim, Huntington Beach, Los Patos, the Bolsa, Chica Gun club, Huntington Beach and Balboa, with the various gun, road and country clubs along the south coast. The new strip of highway covers 20 miles. Later it is to be extended to Laguna, and thence to San Juan Capistrano where it will connect with the coast highway direct to San Diego. This will finish the southern part of the state coastline highway.

Newport and Balboa have not been accessible via the coast route during the building of the highway. This was constructed at a cost of approximately $250,000 and the bridge over the Santa Ana river was built by the county of Orange at a cost of $63,131. The Automobile Club of Southern California has signposted the entire new route.

Orange county has selected Newport Beach as its own harbor and has co-operated in developing the waterway. A west jetty has been constructed at a cost of $175,000 and the bar built at a cost of $60,000 by the city. In dredging the general improvements the city has spent nearly $400,000. The county has spent nearly $600,000 in harbor development, bringing the total to nearly a million for improving shipping facilities.

Not to be outdone by the state which has constructed a concrete boulevard to the city limits, the city of Newport Beach is spending $50,000 for paving in Balboa and $200,000 for paving on Balboa Island. This is in addition to expenditures of $350,000 for addition to the water system.

L. A. Plans Opening of Manchester Boulevard

Los Angeles county is considering plans to open Manchester boulevard from Venice to Orange county line, according to recent information received by the touring department of the National Automobile club. An effort is being made to secure the co-operation of Orange county in extending the road to Fullerton.

SAFETY RULES SUGGESTED BY CLUB

National Auto Body Says
Public, Private Need
To Cooperate

It is only by the co-operation of all the agencies, public and private, having to do with the education of children, that the very vital issue of "Safety First" can become effective, according to the safety first bureau of the National Automobile club.

With the increase of traffic, not only in cities, but in every community, rural and urban, it is of tremendous import that every individual be thoroughly trained in regard to the safety of himself and his fellows. The constant hammering on the essentials of proper conduct must be kept constantly before the public. Much can be done to forward this by parents and teachers through intelligent and persistent instruction.

A platform was drawn up by the National Safety council at its annual meeting, embodying the salient features of the safety first movement toward the elimination of accidents. The plan as outlined follows:

The assistance of all persons, individual and corporate, to public officials in the performance of duties tending to ameliorate traffic congestion and traffic hazards and designed to minimize accidents in the street and in the home.

Community Councils

The organization of community safety councils in well populated communities along lines similar to the sixty councils now functioning in our large cities, the purpose of which is to create community interest in an accomplishment of increased safety in the home, in the street and in the industries.

The incorporation of organized instruction and training in the principles of personal and public safety into the curriculum of every public and parochial school of primary and high school grades.

The more concentrated study of the automobile accident problem.

Visiting Autoists Are Aided By Auto Club

Visiting motorists now coming into Southern California in ever-increasing numbers are invited to make use of the free service offered by the Automobile club of Southern California through its touring bureau.

Maps of many descriptions are available to these tourists ranging from city and regional road maps to those covering the United States. Recreation places where fish and game are obtainable and national parks and monuments and other sights, are shown.

Information as to road conditions, routes to take, auto camps and camp grounds available, facilities obtainable in various places, accommodations offered by various communities, hotels and resorts, and worth-while outing and touring trips may be obtained by the tourist on application to the club headquarters at any hour of the day or night. These data are kept up to date, especially in regard to Southern California territory, but surrounding states and territories are also included in the information. The touring bureau, one of the largest departments in the activities of the club, is open day and night, and holidays. Maps are given free to visiting motorists for a period of six months after their arrival, and information is available to all motorists at all times.

Accidents Decrease In Safety Council Cities

Some of the Pacific coast cities having safety councils have shown a very favorable record in the way of reduction in automobile fatalities in 1924 as compared with 1923, according to the public safety bureau of the National Automobile club. The record in Los Angeles for the past two years, which has been listed among cities not having safety councils, is 242 deaths in 1923 as compared to 219 deaths in 1924, which is an increase of 10.5 per cent in fatalities. Denver has shown a decrease of 5 per cent; Oakland a decrease of 44 per cent; Portland, Oregon, a decrease of 9 percent, which speaks very well for the results obtained by safety councils in these cities.

GRANDCANYON TRAILS ARE ADVISED

National Auto Club Gives Advisable Routes To Follow Now

The month of March is a very attractive time of the year in which to visit the Grand Canyon National park, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club.

The route from Los Angeles over what is known as the National Old Trails is in very fair condition as a whole. Pavement is extended to Victorville, thence a good road to Needles, California. A great portion of this stretch has been macadamized, although heavy transcontinental travel has broken off some of the surface and a rutty condition has resulted in some places. The Maine Station road, which is the popular road used into the park during the summer months, is not advisable for at least another month, on account of weather conditions and snow.

Williams Road

The Williams road is now being used and is dry the entire distance with the exception of the last fifteen miles into the park. All the western drives in the park are open and dry. The eastern drives are closed, being too soft and muddy for travel at the present time. All trails with the exception of the North Rim Trail are open.

The Grand Canyon of the Colorado is one of the most stupendous natural wonders of the globe, and in vain can the human voice strive to express in words what the mind can only feel through the aid of sight. The brilliancy of rock coloring and the fantastic carvings of the walls, present a handwork too huge and beautiful for man to copy. At the present time the Bright Angel Trail presents a most attractive excursion, descending to a depth of 5000 feet at the foot of which is the Colorado river. The snowcapped ridges and walls add to the beauty of the trail trips on foot or horseback.

Spanish Old Trail

If an extended trip is desired into Phoenix and Tucson, returning to Los Angeles via the Spanish Old Trail through Yuma and the Salton Sea route, the motorist will experience very good roads. The road leaving the National Old Trails road at the fork to Phoenix via Prescott and Wickenburg is considered a boulevard and may easily be made in six or seven hours. The road south of Phoenix to Tucson is a perfect boulevard and four cars may drive abreast.

Considering the weather conditions, this trip may be taken with more comfort at the present time of the year than later in the season, at which time the desert is extremely hot. The round trip mileage from Los Angeles to the Grand Canyon is 1145 miles.

Mt. Wilson Toll Road Due For Lengthening

Actual steps are now being taken toward the extension of the Mount Wilson toll road from Mount Wilson to Barley Flats. According to a recent report received by the touring department of the National Automobile club. The extension will be eleven miles in length, single-track width, with many turnouts. According to the plans, it will be widened later on. The object in the road extension is for fire protection and fire prevention work and to open new territory to pleasure-seekers.

Pleasure Pier Takes Portion Of Boulevard

Closing part of the Ocean boulevard at Pacific Beach, in San Diego county to permit the construction of a pleasure pier and amusement park was recently authorized by the San Diego City Council, according to a recent report received by the touring department of the National Automobile club. The closing will reduce the width of the boulevard to thirty feet for some distance.

FUEL OIL PRICES

PARSONS, Kan., March 19.—The 50 per cent increase in fuel oil prices since January 1 has prompted the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad to resume the use of coal as fuel on the 160-mile Sedalia division, between New Franklin, Mo. and Parsons.

STEEL BUSINESS

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—Acceptance by steel mills of business at 2.12 cents for bars, shapes and plates is becoming more common and the recently quoted 2.20 cents is merely a figure heard about. New buying for second quarter delivery was light.

Wild Flower Season Open To Motorists

The wild flower and fruit blossom season is on in Southern California, according to announcement by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California, and motorists may enjoy these beauties to the fullest. In various spots apricots, pears, plums and apple are in blossom or budding.

While the desert flowers are not plentiful yet, it is expected that additional rains will bring them along. Autoists may obtain complete information regarding the location of the orchards and wild flowers in bloom and the best routes for reaching them by applying or telephoning to the touring department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

'Hit-and-Run' Drivers Face Reward Obstacle

Automobile drivers who injure or kill persons and do not stop to render aid will not have easy sledding during 1925, following actions of the board of directors of the Automobile club of Southern California. This was the renewal for the year of the rewards offered last year for information leading to the arrest and conviction, under Section 141 of the California Vehicle act, of the drivers of any motor vehicle which in any of the thirteen counties of California strikes and injures any persons or collides with any other vehicle in such a manner as to injure the occupants thereof and fails to stop and render to such person all necessary assistance.

The rewards offered are $250 in the case of the driver of any vehicle causing the death of one or more persons, and $50 in the case of the driver causing injury to one or more persons in any one accident in which no person is killed. In renewing this offer it was brought out that during 1924 these rewards were paid to seven claimants. These totaled $550 and the prosecution followed, resulting in three drivers paying heavy fines, one receiving a jail sentence, and three being placed on probation.

WORLD-WIDE RADIO

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—World-wide as well as national broadcasting of programs is in the offing and only awaits intensive development work, with the necessary installations, a Pittsburgh expert says.

COASTAL OIL FLOW

HOUSTON, March 19.—Total daily average oil production in the coastal-south Texas fields last week was 141,140 barrels, an increase of 2635.

FLYER DEALER IN CARS IN ROSEVILLE

Former News Reporter Is Located Outside Of Capital City

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News.
Member of The Evening News Staff
ROSEVILLE, March 19.—Twenty miles out of Sacramento, the state capital, where the Southern Pacific division turns east "over the hump" to the old home, and also goes north to Portland and Seattle, one finds this thriving community of working people which holds interest to readers of The Glendale Evening News.

Lieutenant Walter Hawkins, who has flown over Glendale, is an experienced army instructor, and who nine years ago was a reporter for the News in the Verdugo foothill communities, is local dealer for the Dodge motor car. He is in partnership with his brother Norman, and his sister is their bookkeeper.

Joseph Hawkins, their father, sold the business to his sons two years ago, and he is still interested in flying, maintaining the Roseville flying field. Water has taught Norman to fly, and occasionally they visit Sacramento, San Francisco and Stockton.

Airplane Prophecy

The elder Hawkins, who established the automobile agency to keep the boys from flying too much, admitted to the writer that "within two years airplanes will be selling like automobiles. It is the coming industry and the boys will be able to demonstrate Ford's flying flivvers as well as motorcars."

The Hawkins family has hopes of returning to Glendale to make their home on property they own on Tenth street some of these days. Walter declares that the ranch they bought in La Graciosa ten years ago for $5,000 recently sold for $50,000 for subdivision purposes.

The boys will sell more than 100 Dodge cars in their district this year which shows they are prospering.

Orange County Reports Three Roads Now Open

Recent advices from Orange county to the touring department of the National Automobile club state that the following roads are now open: The Corona-Norco road, the Corona-Elsinore road and the Corona-Anaheim road. The Corona-Orange road is still useable with short detours.

PAIGE, JEWETT IN POPULAR DEMAND

New Models Displayed At Show Bring Prospects To Local Dealer

The interest in the new Paige and Jewett models displayed recently at the auto show is bringing many motorists to the showrooms of the D. R. Tompkins Motor Car Co., 219 West Colorado boulevard, for a further examination of these cars, reports Mr. Tompkins.

"The special brougham, touring and sedan models of the Jewett are something new in automobile design and performance," he says, "and are doing much to make March one of the busiest months we have known."

"The new Paige exceeds in beauty all its predecessors and I predict that the Paige brougham will prove the most popular model in this line. It is a car that for fitness of every detail, from chassis to coach work, represents the peak of motor car development."

Student To Accompany Redlands' Glee Club

Dale Wood of Glendale, a student at the University of Redlands, is one of two men selected to accompany the Men's Glee club on its spring concert tour, beginning March 28. Mr. Wood is one of the readers for the club. There are twenty-eight singers in the chorus. In addition to his activity with the Glee club, Mr. Wood is manager of the university debating teams, which have remained undefeated in conference debates this year. The tour of the Glee club is north through the San Joaquin valley. They will sing at Bakersfield, Dinuba and Fresno and spend two days in the vicinity of San Francisco.

YEAR GUARANTEE ON OLDSMOBILES

C. H. Hunter Makes Unusual Offer On Purchase Of New Model Six

"Through accurate records kept for one year we find that it is possible to give a one-year guarantee free," said C. H. Hunter, of 208-210 West Broadway, Glendale distributor for Oldsmobile cars. "Each purchaser of a new Oldsmobile Six receives a written guarantee that we will furnish free of charge, and install a part that proves defective for one year. To the best of our knowledge no automobile manufactured with the exception of one, which costs $4000 gives over ninety days' guarantee. Our guarantee takes the guess out of automobiling for one year."

"Our liberal guarantee thoroughly establishes our belief in the Oldsmobile Six and proves that it will stand up under the hardest work. Any owner of a Model 30 Oldsmobile will tell you the same. Many owners have now driven their Olds 30 as high as 25,000 miles and report twenty to twenty-five miles to the gallon of gas. Oil consumption is practically none and they are still running like new."

NEW MODEL BUICK FOR COUNTRY USE

Glendale Dealer Asks Public To See Club Special Latest Creation

Buick has lived up to its slogan, "When better cars are built, Buick will build them," and the 25,000 people who visited the recent Automobile show had an opportunity to see a number of the latest creations, points out William Tanner of Tanner & Hall, Ltd., Brand boulevard at Maple street, local dealers.

"As an example of the progressive spirit of Buick," says Mr. Tanner, "we invite the public to come to our showrooms and see the new and distinctive Country Club Special, with its many special features, such as an extra compartment for golf bags and other sport equipment, an unusually large storage space in the rear deck and an extra storage space behind the seat. There is a one-piece windshield which is particularly adaptable to cars of this kind. It has special adjustment for ventilation."

"The golfer with his sticks, the doctor with his case, the lawyer or other professional man with his portfolio, the woman with parcels or sport equipment and the tourist with his luggage find the Country Club Special ideal."

SCHOOL TRUSTEES FOR RE-ELECTION

Tower, Yariok, Union High Board Seek Office For Second Term

A. W. Tower and H. W. Yariok, members of the Glendale Union High school board of trustees, whose terms expire March 27, have signified in writing their intention of running for re-election on that date. It is announced by Harry V. Brown, clerk of the board, and their names have been placed on the ballot. Names of other candidates may be written on the ballot, when the vote is cast, according to law.

The polling place will be the Harvard High school and the polls will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock at night, in charge of S. Riley Lyons, inspector, with Adelaide H. Imler and Mary G. Pollock as judges. Dr. Brown states. Two trustees will be elected for terms of three years.

Trustees whose terms hold over are: Albert D. Pearce, president of the board; Dr. Harry V. Brown, clerk; and George H. Bentley, newest member.

AUTO LOANS MADE BY REA COMPANY

Local Concern Gives Strict Confidence To Dealing, Low Rate Charged

The individual requiring a personal loan with as much security can always get prompt action at the J. V. Rea Investment Co., 128 West Wilson avenue, states J. V. Rea, president. Loans are made direct to individuals and confidences are respected. There is no waiting.

"We not only offer the promptest service, but give the lowest rates," says Mr. Rea. "Inasmuch as the J. V. Rea Investment Co. specializes in automobile loans, we are in a position to handle large numbers of loans to persons needing money without the delay which sometimes is so costly when one requires funds at a certain time."

National Auto Club Lists Safety Rules

lem by public officials by means of traffic charts, accident spot maps and uniform statistics to relieve local centers of hazards without delay and to provide adequate information on how, when, why, and where automobile accidents are occurring.

More Suggestions

The issuance of state drivers' licenses for all operators of motor vehicles upon their qualifications by test and examination as to ability and fitness, and revocation of such license for cause. The consideration of street traffic movement as a state and municipal problem of engineering importance and, with this, the creation of the through traffic routes, city and county, with maximum safety factors determined by engineering analysis and review.

The co-operation of federal, state and municipal authorities and steam and electric railroads in the continued campaign for preventing grade crossing accidents in the home and the education of all citizens to cope intelligently with hazards, to the end that home life may be safe against accident.

The strict enforcement of all laws, rules and regulations which are designed to remove hazards of everyday life and to prevent accidents which would otherwise result from uncontrolled hazards.

Too many motor-car owners attempt to drive over the narrow and steep roads of the mountain country without proper preparation. Burning brake bands, dangerous skids, crumpled fenders and serious accidents most frequently may be traced to unskilled driving.

Car Under Control

Your car must be under control at all times. Ascending or descending the grades, the motorist must be prepared for the possible failure of the braking system or the engine. The braking system should only be used for emergencies in the mountains. Compression is the proper method of keeping the machine under control. This, with the occasional use of the hand and foot brake employed alternately and not for any length of time, will hold the car at a speed within the limits of safety.

Don't try to hurry up a grade. This overheats the engine and this attempt at haste will only mean a delay and a strain on the engine. Overheating results from forcing a motor or from some engine trouble, and should not always be blamed upon an inefficient cooling system.

The horn is in its element on the mountain road and it may save your life in rounding a sharp turn. It should be sounded frequently in the mountain country and it should have a voice of sufficient strength to carry around the turns.

Keep Steady Pace

Set a steady pace, neither too fast nor too slow, and maintain it. The safest drivers are the drivers that drive at a steady pace, and they usually get there first as well.

On narrow roads don't argue with another driver over right-of-way. It's better to wait at a convenient turn-out than to skid over a grade. Courtesy pays in the mountains.

Familiarize yourself with the condition of the road, over which you plan to travel. Get a complete report from an automobile club touring bureau before you start. Then you may plan your trip intelligently and the excursion will be that much more pleasurable.

LYNCH CANDIDATE FOR TUJUNGA JOB

Glendale Resident Enters Race For Member Of School Board

Harry Lynch, who for ten years was manager of the Glendale municipal power and light department, has announced himself as a candidate for member of the Tujunga school board, at the election of March 27. So far no other name has been announced, but the names of other candidates may be written on the ballot, according to law.

Mr. Lynch came to Glendale in 1907 and saw the city grow from 2500 to 25,000 in the ten years he served in a position similar to that now occupied by Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production. He later went into business for himself as an engineer and has acquired extensive holdings in the Verdugo hills. Some years ago he removed to Tujunga, where he now lives.

Cottage Prayer Meets Planned For Friday

Mrs. M. H. Terry, parish worker for Glendale Presbyterian church, announces cottage prayer meetings for tomorrow morning from 10 to 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. Terry states that, believing "prayer changes things," the public is invited to attend the meetings. Meetings will be held at the following homes: Mrs. J. W. Chambers, 607 East Lomita avenue; Mrs. Boettler, 313 West Broadway; Mrs. A. D. Smith, 630 North Howard street; Mrs. George D. McDill, 1451 East Wilson avenue; Mrs. Howard L. Brown, 406 North Maryland avenue; Mrs. E. Carlson, 1208 South Boynton street; Mrs. Fletcher, 332 North Isabel street; Mrs. McLaughlin, 144 South Kenwood street; Mrs. Nellie Raburn, 1612 South Brand boulevard; and Mrs. John Horsch, 119 North Cedar street.

STRONG POINTS OF 'GOOD' MAXWELL

Local Dealer Promises 25 Miles On Gallon With Latest Model

A speed of fifty-eight miles an hour, an acceleration of from five to twenty-five miles in eight seconds, and gasoline consumption of twenty-five miles to the gallon, these are the attributes of the new Maxwell, and Lyman P. Clark, president of the Glendale Motor Car Co., Maxwell and Chrysler dealers, declares he can prove it.

"These performances are not miracles," he says. "The company wrote them into the plans and specifications, then set out to build an automobile that could meet the test on every point."

"The gasoline mileage, flexibility and speed are the pre-determined result of carefully calculated balance, scientific carburetion and gas distribution, and of the most painstaking workmanship. Every piece of material that goes into the good Maxwell is subjected to the most severe tests and to the closest inspection, not only the samples but every part used going under the most rigorous tests."

RAY SMITH BUYS REO CAR AGENCY

Reo Glendale Motors Co. Is New Name Chosen For Salesroom, Garage

Ray M. Smith, an automobile man of ten years' experience, announced this week that he has purchased the Reo factory branch agency in Glendale, located at 124-126 South Orange, which agency in the future will be known as the Reo Glendale Motors Co.

In addition to the regular sales department where all late models of the Reo are on display, a general garage will be conducted and the repairing and servicing of all makes of cars will be featured as well as a superb service offered to all Reo owners of commercial and passenger cars.

Bert M. Allison, who for a number of years has been associated with Reo distributors, has been appointed sales manager, and an active campaign will be inaugurated to acquaint all Glendale and vicinity with the merit of Reo automobiles.

While a newcomer to the business circles of Glendale, Mr. Smith has lived in Glendale the last eight or ten months, residing with his family at 408 Griswold street.

TIRE CREDIT GIVEN BY SMITH'S STORE

Viking Cord Brand Handled, Guarantee Attached For 15,000 Miles

Tire credit as low as $1 down, with no interest charges, is offered at the Smith Tire Co., 239 South Brand boulevard. The tires featured are Viking "safety" cords, which carry an unconditional guarantee of 15,000 miles, according to Irwin Smith, manager.

"There is no red tape about our time payment plan," says Mr. Smith. "And you can buy no better tires than Viking cords. They contain more materials than ordinary tires and weigh more. They are the only tires on the market carrying an unconditional 15,000 mile guarantee."

STOP NEURITIS BEFORE NERVES "SNAP"

Thousands of men and women suffer from dangerous neuritis and, at the danger of wrecking their entire nervous system, thus suffering a severe nervous breakdown, lightly called their trouble "just a case of nerves."

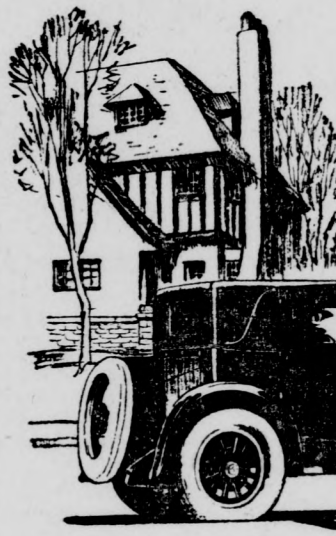

Science is now greatly concerned with the alarming increase in neuritis or nervous sufferers. Thousands of experiments have been made to find a remedy that would give immediate relief from nerve troubles and at the same time tone up the entire nervous system.

At last an eminent San Francisco physician announces a new discovery which has been proven by clinical tests to give relief from sharp, darting, tingling, creeping nerve pains, and restore tone to the nerve cells, thus benefiting the entire system. This remedy is called Eopa Neuritis Tablets, and is based on the Science of Homeopathy, a method of treatment endorsed by eminent physicians throughout America.

Don't let your nerves wreck your life. If you have any signs of nervousness or nerve trouble, gain relief and ward off serious disease at once with Eopa Neuritis Tablets. Guaranteed harmless; no bromides or narcotics. Your druggist will recommend them.

Ahlmann Drug Co., Brand at Harvard, will supply you. Mail orders filled.—Advertisement.

THROUGH sheer superiority of value, this Hupmobile Club Sedan has taken first place in the minds of thousands of families throughout America. Its low price at near open car levels, now brings full measure of closed car comfort, together with the superior economy, dependability, performance, and long life of Hupmobile, to those who formerly had to content themselves with an open car. Here is something new and different in a club sedan. It affords convenience, seating comfort and smartness hitherto lacking in this type of car. It is undoubtedly one of the best possible motor car investments on the market today—affording its owners every wanted sedan benefit, plus valuable features which are special to Hupmobile. A phone call brings a demonstrator to your door. Let us hear from you at once.

STRIPPED MODEL CHRYSLER SHOWN

Lyman Clark, Local Dealer, Invites Public To See Detail Of Work

The quality that is built into the Chrysler Six in every minute detail is shown by the stripped model of a Chrysler body that is on display in the showrooms of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell and Chrysler distributors.

This body, which is the only one on the coast, is of polished steel, and is built by Fisher from Chrysler's own specifications. The metal around the doors and at other points is welded and moulded to the shape of the frame, instead of being nailed on in strips, and the woodwork at the joints is dovetailed, glued and fastened together with screws, so that it cannot give or squeak. The cushion has been cut away to show the detail.

Through an improved system, the windows may be completely raised or lowered by three turns of the crank, and the ventilator in the windshield is of the sliding type that gives a free flow of air into the car without permitting it to blow directly on the driver or the other occupants.

"Every detail of the construction of the Chrysler body," says

Lyman P. Clark, president of the company, "is standard in every way."

Woman Realtor Not In Race For City Council

Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, Glendale real estate broker, announces she will not be a candidate for City Council in a letter to The Glendale Evening News. The letter: "Through your paper I wish to thank my many friends who have urged me to run for City Council and pledged their support. I have given the most of my time the past two years to Glendale civic work and realizing that such a position requires a great deal of time and thought, while I fully appreciate the honor, it would be impossible for me to give the necessary time required."

BRANCH BANK TIF AIRED AT CAPITOL

Bank Of Italy Executives Charge Discrimination To State Overseer

SACRAMENTO, March 19.—The branch bank controversy, which was aired before the Assembly banking committee when representatives of the Bank of Italy preferred charges of discrimination against State Superintendent of Banks John F. Johnson, will come up for further consideration at an executive meeting of the committee next Tuesday, it was announced today by Assemblyman C. C. Spaulding of Sunnyvale, chairman of the committee.

The ruling of the bank commissioner that the bank of Italy can enter Los Angeles with branch banks only by the purchase or merger of financial institutions already established was hotly protested by Eustace Cullinan and N. R. Williams, counsel for the bank.

Cullinan charged in his statement to the committee that "a veritable Chinese wall has been built around the city of Los Angeles to keep us out."

May Go to Vote

Unless action is taken by the present Legislature removing the ban on branch banks, the question will be taken direct to the people at the next general election, James A. Bacigalupi, president of the Bank of Italy, declared in a statement following the committee meeting.

Leo S. Chandler, Los Angeles banker and spokesman for a delegation from the south appearing in behalf of the branch bank ruling, declared that "we should not consider public clamor in place of the diplomatic relation of a banking head in whom we have confidence."

Chandler referred during his argument to a conference at the 1923 Legislature at which a "gentlemen's agreement" was reached that banks would not be given the right to establish branches in cities other than their home town except by acquisition of banks already in existence.

Plenty Thrills

VIOLA DANA, in "The Heart Bandit," which concludes today at the Glendale theatre.

Viola Dana has the role of girl of the underworld in "The Heart Bandit," which concludes today at the Glendale theatre. The story is a merry tale about a girl crook who is regenerated when she breaks into the home of an old lady and her son, in running from the police. The dramatic and comic situations arising from this premise bring forth many exciting and laughable moments in which the star is superb.

Milton Sills is Miss Dana's leading man, and he never gave a more delightful performance in any of the big successes in which he has appeared. Wallace MacDonald does a great piece of work in a semi-comedy role, and others in the cast include Gertrude Claire, Bertram Grassby, and DeWitt Jennings.

Oscar Apfel directed the production. Tom J. Hopkins wrote the adaptation of Fred Kennedy Myton's story, and John Arnold did the photography.

OAKLAND LANDAU SEDAN IS LAUDED

Glendale Dealer Says There Is Genuine Thrill In Latest Model

It is always agreeable to get a new thrill, and John Neuschaefer, 420 East Colorado street, Oakland dealer, declares there is a genuine thrill for even the most jaded motorist to be found in the new Oakland landau sedan.

"This car is difficult to describe," he says. "It is a thing of long, thin lines, keen, snappy, luxurious, and yet that doesn't describe it. One must see the new Oakland landau sedan really to grasp its beauty."

"Everyone knows Oakland sturdiness and Oakland power, but our new closed models are a revelation. To ride in them is doubly a revelation. Balloon tires are standard equipment and many of the very latest features have been added to make the 1915 Oakland a 100 per cent automobile."

EVER-READY CUTS GASOLINE PRICE

Local Service Station In One, One-Half Cent Reduction Move

The Ever-Ready Service station, Broadway at Central avenue, has met the impending gasoline price war with a cut of 1½ cents a gallon on guaranteed gas, it is announced. This offer is combined with a complete service that makes it unnecessary for the motorist to leave his seat, when he drives into this station.

"No coupons and better gasoline," is the slogan adopted by this station. The name, "Ever-Ready," was selected in order to bring out the principle on which the business was founded, that of being on the job all the time, the management states.

Hudkins And Benjamin Are Signed For Bout

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—Ace Hudkins, Nebraska "wildcat," and Joe Benjamin, regarded as the Pacific coast's most logical contender to the lightweight boxing crown deserted by Benny Leonard, will tangle in a ten-round fight to a decision at the Vernon coliseum April 7, it was announced today by Promoter Jack Doyle. The men will fight at 137 pounds and the bout will be staged at 2 p. m.

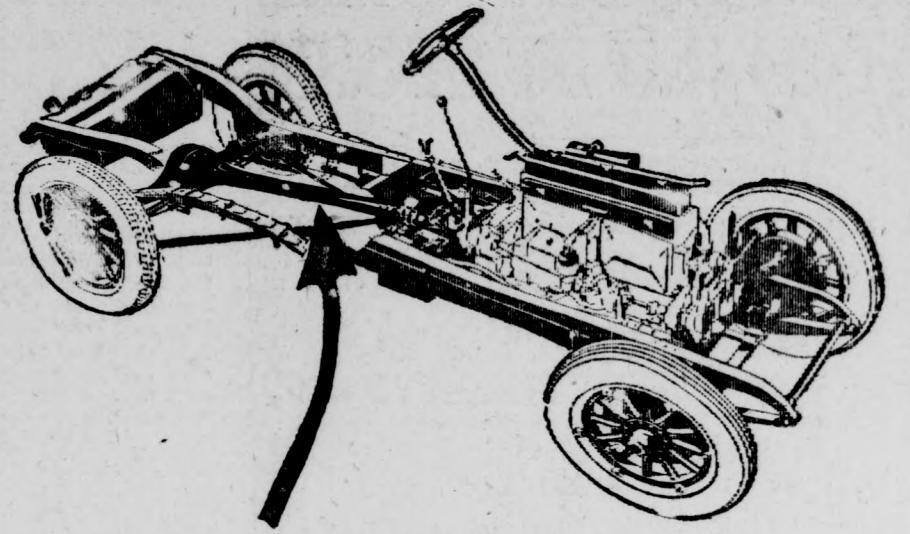

Ooyle, it was learned, dickered for more than two weeks before the men could be brought to terms as Hudkins insisted Benjamin make 135 pounds. It is understood Benjamin will receive 30 per cent of the gate receipts while Hudkins will receive 25 per cent.

WHY THERE ARE MORE THAN A MILLION

Buick Torque Tube Drive

The fine engineering in Buick motor cars is demonstrated by the torque tube drive. This is a steel tube which transmits the drive from the rear wheels instead of adding this important duty to the burden of the rear springs. The torque tube also encloses and protects the propeller shaft. This type of construction also holds the rear wheels in alignment regardless of road conditions.

HUPP DEALER HAS BANNER BUSINESS

February Sets Record For Glendale Distributor Of This Car

February stands as the banner month in the business of H. W. Swanson, 228 South Brand boulevard, Hupmobile distributor, and March bids fair to shatter February's record.

"Glendale is the best auto sales territory I have ever seen," says H. V. White, Glendale manager for Mr. Swanson, who is also Hupmobile distributor for Hollywood and Pasadena. "Though we are constantly shattering automobile records, the success of February and the first half of March has been phenomenal, even for the fast-selling Hupp line of fours and eights."

"Much of the sweeping popularity of the Hupmobile eight is due to the remarkably compact motor and the graceful body lines of open and closed models alike. Another thing is the class of the car. It breathes distinction in every line. Mechanically perfect, the Hupmobile is, as well, artistically perfect. It is a joy to drive this car, both for its performance and for its beauty."

PACKARD OWNERS ACTIVE SALESMEN

Good Qualities Of Car Are Told Others By Those Who Drive Them

The Packard automobile owes much of its continued popularity to the fact that it combines moderation of price with lavishness of equipment, power, speed, smooth performance and remarkable endurance, according to W. H. Daniel, president of the Dixie Motor Co., 1129-31 South Brand boulevard, local distributor of Packard sixes and eights.

"Everyone has his or her own ideas, tastes and personal requirements in a car," says Mr. Daniel. "It is necessary to consider all these things in selecting the automobile that shall continue to please. Packard, recognizing this, has created a series of motor cars that combines the elements of widest appeal with the soundest engineering features."

"For a generation the name Packard has been a synonym for excellence. This long record of achievement stands back of our slogan. Ask the man who owns one. Every Packard owner is a Packard salesman."

BIG BUSINESS

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—All indications point to a big business year here. February permits are double those of January and 75 per cent above those of February, 1924. Dwelling permits for February aggregated $9,404,000 about 80 per cent of the total. Apartments and office buildings make up the other 20 per cent.

DEATH STALKS IN TRAIL OF MIDWESTERN TORNADO

NUMEROUS TOWNS ARE DESTROYED BY STORM

Property Damage Mounts Into Millions And Hundreds of Persons Killed or Burned to Death In Great Tragedy

virtually razed. The Missouri dead were estimated at twenty. Indiana paid with 200 lives and thousands homeless and in Kentucky the death toll was estimated at about ten.

Thousands Suffer In Cold

Rain continued to fall throughout the night and snow was threatening. The temperature had been above 60 degrees before the storm. Afterward it fell to near freezing, bringing intense suffering to thousands of homeless.

Red Cross workers, doctors and nurses were exhausting first aid supplies almost as fast as equipment could be sent to the relief bases at Benton and Duquoin and at Murphysboro, Gorham and West Frankfort.

Tents were augmented by improvised hospitals and lodge halls, garages, churches, private home and, in fact, every available inch of shelter was used. Property damage may reach $50,000,000, with several of the world's largest coal mines and many factories in ruins, in addition to thousands of homes and business buildings.

Bodies were still being taken from wreckage today, rescuers being compelled to await the cooling of embers. Dynamite was employed to check the flames at Murphysboro when the conflagration reached its zenith, but practically the entire town stood in blackened ruins today.

Troops Turn Back Curious

Highways and railroad tracks, choked by flying wreckage, were being cleared hourly and troops were turning back thousands of curiosity-imbedded motorists who sought to enter the death areas.

In almost every town and village school children paid the greatest price. Hundreds of children met quick death when the twister, surging forward on inky black clouds, engulfed them in the timbers and rock of village schools.

More than 100 pupils perished at Desoto alone, thirty dead at Parrish, scores more were claimed at their desks in Murphysboro, West Frankfort, Vergennes, Bush, Logan and rural buildings.

Ten relief trains arriving from Chicago, St. Louis and other points were instrumental in greatly alleviating the suffering.

FLAMES HALT TORNADO AREA RESCUE OF VICTIMS GETS STATE FULL AID

Human Incineration Follows In Wake Of Storm As Persons Trapped

BENTON, Ill., March 19.—Murphysboro and West Frankfort, Ill., two once thriving towns of 15,000 and 18,000 population, are but scenes of tangled debris and broken bodies today.

Proportionately to size, the village of Desoto, a few miles to the northwest of Murphysboro, probably suffered the greatest blow from yesterday's tornado. Formerly boasting 700 souls, Desoto could offer but 450 mortals today, and 99 per cent of these were maimed and bruised. Two hundred and fifty lives are said to have been snuffed out in this little community alone, many of them victims of fire that swept the ruins.

And what the storm failed to accomplish in destruction, fire swept through. Desoto was in ashes today. Sections of Murphysboro that escaped the storm were ravaged by flames. Smoke billowing at West Frankfort attested the advance of the conflagration that broke out there—but not until heavy damage had been inflicted.

It was this fiery aftermath that gave birth to the reign of horror throughout the night. The storm itself dealt its death stroke quickly. It came in a moment of sudden midnight darkness late in the afternoon and passed on within a few seconds.

But for the fires that followed, rescue work might have been more simplified, but in the first hours after the tragedy, with only a few able-bodied men in each stricken town, the scenes of human incineration were indescribable. Scores of men, women and children, trapped and injured by falling wreckage, screamed vainly for relief as flames devoured their injured bodies.

Japan is buying $16,000,000 worth of hydroelectric equipment from this country.

Bread Price Per Loaf to Drop 2 Cents

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—The price of bread on the twenty-four ounce standard loaf will be reduced here tomorrow from 12 to 10 cents, according to an announcement today from J. A. Daley, who operates 160 stores in Los Angeles and vicinity. Daley predicted the reduction probably would be made general.

Mourners at Funeral Are Among Dead

BENTON, Ill., March 19.—The tornado which swept this section yesterday perpetrated some ghastly freaks. At Murphysboro, twenty-five were killed at a funeral service being conducted in the basement of the Baptist church. Two hundred others attending the service were injured. Nearby, a severed human arm was found imbedded in the trunk of an uprooted tree. At West Frankfort, Ill., in an improvised morgue, there lie the bodies of eighteen babies. All are under two years of age.

TENNESSEE IS STRUCK BY TORNADO

Towns In Sumner County Reported Swept Away By Terrific Wind

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Thirty persons were killed last night in a windstorm at Gallatin, Tenn., according to a report to the American Red Cross today.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 19.—Members of the Nashville Red Cross and a score of physicians left here early this morning for communities in Sumner county, which were virtually swept off the map yesterday by a terrific tornado which left in its wake twenty-three known dead and half a hundred seriously injured.

The villages of Angle, Witham, Oak Grove, Sulphur, Buck Lodge and Peowen, were razed by the twister and it is believed that a check-up today will bring the death toll up to fifty or more.

Toll In Indiana EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 19.—With all mortuaries overflowing and the capacity of the emergency depots sadly inadequate, southern Indiana today began the sorrowful task of taking stock of the dead and injured in the worst tornado ever to visit the state. Early estimates placed the dead in Indiana alone at 300, with as many more seriously injured.

Kentucky Victims LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 19.—Eight killed and more than 100 injured was the known toll in Kentucky today from yesterday's tornado.

Ten at Logan LOGAN, Ill., March 19.—While ten persons were known dead here this afternoon and twenty-nine injured, searching crews began a search of nearby farms reported Dr. Isaac Rawlings, director of the state department of health, acting in conjunction with Governor Len Small. The chief executive in a message to the state Legislature today urged every aid possible.

The troops and supply movements continued today. General Black today rushed to the stricken area from Chicago by special train. 1,000 tents, 1,000 stoves, 4,000 cots, 4,000 pillows, 4,000 bed sacks and 12,000 blankets.

85 Children Perish DESOTO, Ill., March 19.—Revised estimates this afternoon that placed the cyclone death toll here at 158 included more than eighty-five children who perished in the Desoto schoolhouse. Two hundred pupils were housed in the school. Eighty-five bodies had been taken out this afternoon.

Bodies in Tree PARRISH, Ill., March 19.—The bodies of two small boys were found entangled in the limbs of a tree in an orchard near here this afternoon. Parrish lost twenty-five citizens in the storm. Several bodies were found early today more than half a mile from town where they had been blown.

FLOOD MENACE IS LUNCHEON TALK

Hayseiden Tells of Plans to Divert Sycamore Waters Into Verdugo Wash

Percy J. Hayseiden, chairman of the fire and flood control committee of the Chamber of Commerce, explained fire and flood control at the weekly luncheon of the Greater Glendale Luncheon club today noon at the Masonic temple. Mr. Hayseiden told of plans for the diversion of the Sycamore Canyon into Verdugo wash by means of a subterranean tunnel. He explained work of the Angeles Forest Protective association and urged annexation of Casa Verdugo to Glendale in order to eliminate the fire hazard to this city which exists as long as Casa Verdugo remains a part of the county. Chairman George Orgibet introduced Mr. Hayseiden, who then took charge of the meeting. More than fifty business men and women attended the luncheon.

EYE WITNESS DESCRIBES TRAGEDY

Buildings Crumpled, Autos Hurled Through Air At West Frankfort

BENTON, Ill., March 19.—Eye witnesses to the cyclonic tragedy here, including W. H. Purcell, editor of the West Frankfort American, whose plant was among those destroyed, declared today the twister struck within a few seconds from a fairly clear sky.

"Darkness descended quickly," Purcell said, "and the deafening roar of the approaching storm gave but scant warning of West Frankfort's doom."

"Before my eyes buildings crumpled as though made of cardboard, automobiles sailed down the street, wheels ten feet from the ground, a horse shot past in record time. I saw a small boy picked up and whirled away. I've never seen him since."

"Roofs went skyward, telephone poles bent like willows and finally snapped. I saw life-long acquaintances go down in the wreckage of their stores. My own plant was wrecked but I only received a few bruises."

"Then came a cloudburst. Water fairly poured out of the heavens, but the twister stopped as suddenly as it had started. Men and women with blood streaming from their wounds, hands and faces bleeding, dragged themselves from stores and offices."

"It was a gruesome sight, but we were destined to see others far more so."

"Then the fire started. I do not recall just where, but strong winds followed in the wake of the tornado and the flames were fanned over the wreckage where many persons lay injured."

"Nearly everybody was injured. But every man that could walk turned to and helped. We succeeded in pulling dozens of men and women from burning ruins—but we must have missed some. They will find those today or tomorrow."

"Then we concentrated on fighting fire. It was a 'noble 600' that fought that fire to a standstill. There were men with broken arms who gritted their teeth and tried to ignore the terrible pain. Some of them fainted."

"One of these men stumbled and fell, breaking his arm a second time. He regained his feet, cursed awhile and continued to help. We didn't tell him or the others to take a rest. We needed every ounce of man in West Frankfort."

"Then the men from the mines poured in. Some of them, many foreigners, shouted like maniacs. They plunged into burning wreckage of their homes in search of families. One man never came out."

"Night came on rapidly and the streets filled with injured men, women and children. They came from all parts of the city, staggering and falling. It had taken them several hours to get free of debris and their groans and screams made things ghastly. Men died in the streets, but we couldn't move their bodies."

"We were too busy handling those who had a chance to live. But when we've buried our dead we'll be back building again."

April 14, Set Election Day By City Council

The general municipal election was set for April 14, by an ordinance passed today by the City Council, as one of the final acts of today's meeting.

The council also passed an ordinance amending ordinance 1005 establishing an additional school zones at street crossings at the request of Chief of Police Fraser.

Aid Sent to Stricken Area By Red Cross

WASHINGTON, March 19.—All of the manifold facilities of the American Red Cross were ordered into action today to extend relief to the thousands of victims of the storm in Illinois and other middle western states. Red Cross officials in the stricken communities were authorized by national headquarters to make any expenditures deemed necessary to feed and clothe the injured and provide medical aid.

CALIFORNIANS RAISE CASH FOR AID

Residents Of Southland To Help Storm Stricken People In Illinois

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has sent out a call to various societies here for a relief fund to aid the cyclone-stricken people of Illinois, it was announced today by R. W. Pridham, president of that organization.

Glendora, near here, had already raised a fund of $250 at 8 o'clock this morning and expected to raise the total several hundreds of dollars by this afternoon.

RELIEF FUNDS SOUGHT BY GOVERNOR

Asks Illinois Legislature To Pass Large Emergency Appropriation Bill

CHICAGO, March 19.—The tornado that tore its way of death and destruction through southern Illinois and into Indiana left a toll of 1265 lifeless victims lying in its wake today, according to latest reports from the stricken cities and villages. To this appalling death toll may be added scores, possibly hundreds, more before the day is done. The estimates of the injured, including those gravely, probably fatally, hurt and others suffering fractures, ran as high as 8000 in some instances.

The full toll of the "black monster" that whirled so suddenly and so dreadfully out of an afternoon sky may not be fully known for another twenty-four hours. Fires are burning in scores of stricken communities, completing the work of destruction wrought by the cyclone that was nature's greatest blow to the state of Illinois. Troops are already in charge at several spots in the stricken area, that extends through southern Illinois from the western to the eastern borders.

Relief trains have arrived at the devastated regions, while more are being started from cities throughout the state. Governor Small who, with Adjutant General Carlos Black of the Illinois National Guard, remained at the state capitol in Springfield throughout the night directing first aid measures, appealed to the citizens to rush supplies for the help of the sufferers to the St. Louis chapter of the American Red Cross.

At the same time, an emergency relief appropriation of $500,000 was to be called up in the state Legislature some time today with the expectancy of immediate passage.

The death blow dealt the southern part of the state was almost unbelievable in its tragic suddenness. Almost before residents appreciated a marked disturbance in the raw, chilly day, a many-vortexed tornado, in the shape of a black cloud, rushed upon them, and in a twinkling villages were wiped out and the dead and dying left behind.

In some of the smaller communities it was reported that only a meager, pitiful few of the total population were left alive. Public buildings, factories, homes, all vanished like cardboard structures before the terrific wind. Mines in the coal country of Illinois were wrecked.

Search for Victims The frantic search of the wreckage for crushed victims that was carried on through the night was continued with dogged hope today.

The cities where greatest loss of life and property occurred are: West Frankfort, with 400 estimated dead; Murphysboro, 200 dead; Desoto, 140 dead, and Carmi and its environs, 100 dead.

Fire added to the horror in West Frankfort and Desoto. The wreckage burned over several blocks in both cities, incinerating bodies of the victims of the tornado. The great storm swept out of the west, developing in eastern Kansas, sweeping over Missouri, causing some loss of life in that state and gaining in intensity, crossed the Mississippi river between St. Louis, Mo., and Cairo, Ill.

Tornado Victims BUSH, Ill., March 19.—An unidentified man, his team and wife from where he was last seen when the tornado struck yesterday. The driver and horses were dead and the wagon in burning. Three persons were killed at Bush and thirty-five injured rushed to Herrin hospitals. A baby was carried three blocks and set down unhurt.

Governor To Inspect SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 19.—Governor Len Small left Springfield today to make a tour of inspection in the storm stricken area of Southern Illinois.

Stanford Schedule On Football Announced

PALO ALTO, March 19.—Stanford's 1925 football schedule, released today follows: September 26, Olympic club; October 3, Santa Clara; October 10, Occidental; October 17, University of Southern California at Los Angeles; October 24, Oregon Aggies; October 31, University of Oregon; November 7, University of Washington at Seattle; November 14, Southern Branch, University of California; November 21, University of California.

LUMBER TRADE

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—The Southern association barometer for last week's lumber shows orders received decreased 1.02 per cent, shipments 1.8 per cent and production .6 per cent as compared with the week preceding. New orders were 8,600,000 feet, shipments 74,700,000 and unfilled orders 252,200,000 feet.

Black Vortex Leaps River At Annapolis

ST. LOUIS, March 19.—Yesterday's death-dealing tornado apparently gathered near Annapolis, in southwestern Missouri, swept across this section of the state, completely demolishing the village of Annapolis, at the same time exacting a death toll of but three. Eleven are reported dead at Biehle, fourteen at Cape Girardeau and two at Altonburg, the only Missouri towns in the path of the storm that so far have managed to make known their plight.

The twister lifted at Annapolis and descended again near the Illinois border, crossing the Mississippi river and smashing with greater intensity through southwestern Illinois and here it again lifted only to descend once more near the Indiana line at Carmi.

Thomas W. Long Is City Clerk Candidate

Thomas W. Long of 352 West Patterson avenue secured a nomination petition this morning from A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, for the position of city clerk, at the election of April 14. This makes three candidates in the field for this position, the other two being the incumbent, A. J. Van Wie, of 667 Salem street, and Eugene J. Flynn of 1125 East Wilson avenue.

COOLIDGE ASKS RELIEF BODY TO HELP

President Sends Letter To Chairman Of Red Cross Urging Action

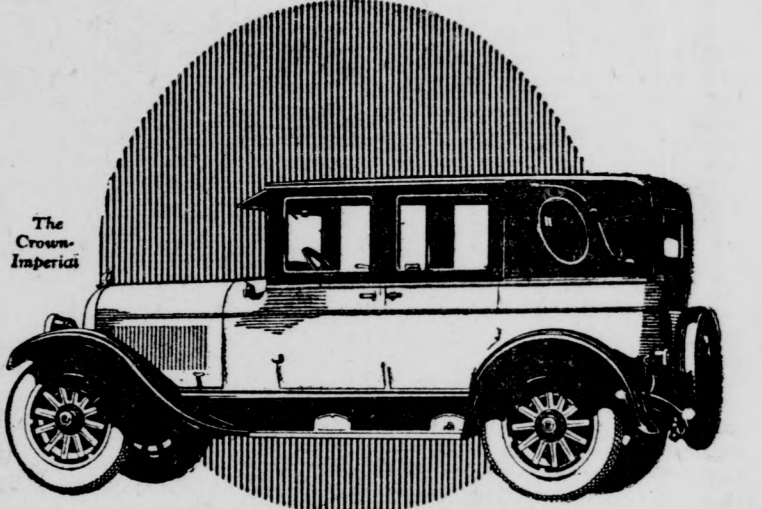

WASHINGTON, March 19.—President Coolidge today personally gave instructions to the Red Cross to use every facility at its command to give succor to the people of the storm stricken area of the middle west.

In a letter to John Barton Payne, chairman, the president said: "Information has reached me of the disaster that has overtaken the portion of Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. It is said that many people are homeless and many are injured."

"I suggest that you put in operation all the facilities of the Red Cross to assist in the required relief."

'MASS MURDERS'

MUNSTERBERG, Germany, March 19.—Disclosures of the horrible crimes of a "mass murderer" have brought freedom to Trautman, a butcher, who has served fifteen years in prison for the murder of a girl another prisoner confessed before committing suicide.

Beauty That Equals Its Comfort and Riding Ease

Just as surely as you know a beautiful car when you see it, you'll be entranced by the Chrysler Six.

In every Chrysler model you sense at once the beauty, the good taste, the smartness which we in America have been in the habit of describing as "French," or "European."

More than 32,000 times last year, buyers expressed, in terms of their motor car choice, the preference for the Chrysler kind of beauty—giving Chrysler Six a first-year sales record never before equaled.

Remember that while Chrysler engineers were scientifically building beauty of appearance, they were building with relation to human comfort. After a brief test you'll agree with Chrysler owners that it is the most perfect riding, most accurately comfortable as well as the best built car you ever drove.

You will find us eager to prove Chrysler quality, fineness and performance in a comprehensive demonstration.

JACK HENDRICKS EXPECTS SUCCESS

Manager Of Cincinnati Reds Confident His Team To Finish Near Top

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
ORLANDO, Fla., March 19.—Offering the prediction for what it may be worth, if anything, Jack Hendricks today declared that his Cincinnati Reds would finish in the first division and that the Pittsburgh Pirates, generally esteemed as a leading contender, would not. He intimated that the Pirates were gold-bricked in the mid-winter trade with the Cubs and therefore were due for a flop.

The Reds, Giants, Dodgers and Cubs are the clubs that will make the pace, he said, and of these, he favored the Giants and Reds. Hendricks remarks that the Reds have undergone many beneficial changes between seasons and offers the following by way of substantiation:

That they have the best pitching staff in baseball, with Mays, Luque, Donohue, Rixey, Sheehan, May and Benton, ready to shoot on sight; that the club having witnessed the departure of Pat Duncan and George Burns and the chastening of Jimmy Caneby by securing waivers, now recognizes Mr. Hendricks as boss and that the appointment of Ed Roush as field captain has eliminated the element of internal dissension that prevailed last year.

Called Dead Loss

At the same time, Mr. Hendricks is free to admit that there is a dash of vinegar in the cream of his remarks. Charlie Dressen, whose purchase from St. Louis carried a heavy luxury tax, is probably a dead loss, Hendricks says. Dressen can field, run, hit and think. But he can't throw.

The five leading pitchers will be Rixey, Donohue, Mays, Sheehan and Luque, according to Hendricks, who says this pre-season choice will curtail much dissension. Last year he had seven good pitchers and they all wanted to pitch at the same time.

Caneby, a much subdued young man, will be played at shortstop and seems to have learned that baseball is not an eternal ride on the band wagon. Kritz, one of the best young players uncovered during 1924, will remain at second base and Pinelli, whom Hendricks says is the best third baseman in the league, will play his favorite position.

Infield Matters

Yet, according to some versions, everything is not essence of lilac with the infield. In fact, one of the regulars confided to me that Rube Bressler is somewhat less graceful than a sacred ox in taking prayers at first base.

"A prayer rides with every ball I throw over there," was his comment.

Mr. Hendricks gives this angle of the situation a wide detour. However, outside of defensive weakness at first base and behind the plates and the lack of another outfielder, the Reds seem almost fool proof. The first division is beckoning them, sure enough.

BOWLING SCORES

FIFTY YEARS IN SPORT

Jennings Has Been Star In Three Firmaments

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News

A star player of the "old days" of the Baltimore Orioles, a dashing manager of a pennant-winning team, Chief coach and mascot of the four-time champion Giants. These are the three roles Hughie Jennings has played in writing one of the most interesting chapters in the "Modern Sport Era." He may well be said to have served with three generations. And he has served well.

To him must go the credit of giving Detroit its greatest baseball years. Some fans will arise to remark that Ty Cobb, more than Hughie Jennings, made Detroit a great baseball town and was its baseball hero.

But Hughie Jennings' tact in handling Cobb—then that youth started his career played a big part in the development of the super-player. Jennings had the courage to let Cobb play his own game and confine his activities to offering the future-great advice in a kindly spirit. Jennings permitted Cobb free reign when his attitude brought a tirade of abuse and rumors to his ears that Cobb and not Jennings was the real manager of the team.

Was Weak Hitter
Few fans know that Jennings' career as a player was threatened once because of his weak hitting. Jennings, a native of Pittsford, Pa., broke into the American Association, June 1, 1891 with the Louisville club. His first year out he hit .300 flat. The next season, with Louisville in the National league, Jennings found himself unable to set that pace. He hit just .232 in 1892 and the next year found himself with a .192 average.

That was enough for Manager Barney. He promptly traded Jennings to the Baltimore Orioles. Jennings little realized at the time what the change was to mean to him.

Thrown in with such fighting players and expert hitters as John McGraw, Wee Willie Keeler and Kelley Jennings, to hold his pride, he bucked down to the task of learning to sock 'em. When the points, Stoff was next in line with eleven points.

The lineup:
Standard Oil (3) Christian Ch. (27)

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 19.—About the only thing one hears around Ty Cobb this spring—as usual—is talk about winning an American League pennant for Detroit. The Georgia peach is putting his team through its paces down here with that one thought in mind and, as always, he believes he has a good chance to succeed.

"I am no crusader," Cobb told the writer today, "but if I recall correctly there was some sort of a crusade in olden times—a quest for the one great cup that Christendom seemed to think it must have above all else. They kept going after it. Whether they got it or not is not a part of my story. I am just reminding you that I am after that American League championship again. You found me in this state of mind about this time last year. My malady is incurable. I'm going to have that banner, and I'm going to hang a small edition of it in Georgia."

The Tigers were having house-cleaning day when the writer arrived. The boys had been told to pack their grips and trunks and prepare to move to another hotel. Various and sundry reasons were ascribed—the most important one being that the players did not feel they were being over-fed, and a ball player's "eats" are mighty important at this stage of the game.

The house-cleaning was carried over onto the diamond in the afternoon session between the regulars and the yannigans. Pilette, pitching for the yannigans, got most of the attention from the vacuum cleaner. How Pilette can have changed so much is a mystery. Two years ago he was the sensation of his league. Last year he wasn't a good starter and had few chances to finish because he didn't start right.

He took Collins' place on the mound for the yannigans at the end of the third inning. Collins had been subduing the regulars regularly. The first batter to face Pilette was Manush. He batted one over the fence, but it was a foul. He knocked the next one to center field for two bases. The rest of the regulars then fell upon Pilette and made seven or eight safe hits in succession, scoring seven runs. The air looked as if a storm of meteors had hit Augusta and the base paths were streaked with gray figures touring the run route.

Cobb sent Pilette back in the next inning to let him catch his breath. He started with his breath but poor yannigan outfielders quickly lost their chafing the ball in that one awful inning. It is said that waivers have been asked on Pilette. One club, Cleveland, declined to waive. But that gives no solace to the yannigans. If Pilette pitches again, they plan to go on the field with oxygen tanks strapped to their backs.

Pilette seems to be all right physically but the other players say he has lost his "sinker." A "sinker" in baseball is a pitch that leaves a higher altitude to drop below par and Pilette's pitching refuses to get away from the high spots. The regular Detroit team is made up of Blue at first, O'Rourke at second, Rigney at short, and Jones at third, with Manush, Cobb and Hellman in the outfield. Bassler and Woodall catch. When they are all set to start one of their original old-fashioned stampedes they give opposing pitchers a walking night-mare. They have a way of batting that makes you think of a roof-lifting gas blowing over a frame house.

It is this tremendous batting strength that will be a menace to the other American League clubs as it has been in past years. There isn't a sign in the sky that suggests any weakening. The rest of the clubs in the junior circuit might just as well make up their minds that when they play Detroit they will have to bring forth their best pitchers and back them up with prayer and brilliant fielding.

These 1925 Tigers can maltreat a ball more savagely than any club the writer has seen so far on his tour of the big league camps.

MERCHANTS WILL OPEN ON SUNDAY

Manager Bacom Picks Buick Autos As Opponents In Initial Contest

The Glendale Merchants will make their 1925 bow to the baseball public Sunday afternoon at the San Fernando park when they play their initial game against the Buick Autos, one of the strongest semi-pro teams in Southern California. Manager M. R. Bacom has picked stiff opposition for his Glendale Merchants for the opening affair, in order to get a better line on his players. Walter Hylder, whose work on the mound is known to many Glendale fans by reason of his work here two years ago, and the showing he made with the San Fernando club of the valley loop last season, will do the hurling for the Glendale aggregation. Aquilar is slated to take the mound for the visitors.

The batting order for the Merchants, as announced by Manager Bacom, will probably be: H. Harrison, cf; Parson, ss; Tanner, rf; Lefty Harrison or Bacom, lb; Harding, lf; Garcia, 2b; Allen or Acosta, 3b; Nobles, c, and Hylder, p. The Buick lineup will be: Young, cf; Lopez, ss; Orsat, rf; Crowley, lb; Rundell, lf; Reeves, 2b; Burbank, 3b; McMullen, c, and Aquilar, p.

The gate will be free next Sunday, Manager Bacom announces, in order to get a big turnout to greet the Glendale team. Extra seats will be provided to take care of the grandstand patrons which burned several months ago, he said.

To Night's CAGE GAMES

The M. E. churchmen will take the floor tonight against the Radios with the determination of adding another victory and thus break the tie that now exists between the M. E. church and the Standard Oilers for fourth place. The Radios are in second place and if they overcome the churchmen and can bump the Hull Trucks when these two teams meet next week, a tie for first place will result, otherwise the Radios will tie for second place with the Calla Lily team.

The Radios have won five games and lost two. On their schedule for the balance of the season are games with the W. E. church, to be played tonight, Hull Trucks, to be played next week, Legion and two games with the Standard Oilers. The Oilers and Radios finished the first round one game short, so the postponed game must be played before the end of the season to round out the schedule.

The game is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock and will be played at the Harvard High school gym. The admission is free. The M. E. churchmen hold a victory over the league-leading Hull Trucks, but lost to the Radios in the first round, 31 to 20.

"Miss Estelle has not come home, sir, and the life is fair worried out of me about her."

"Have you ever known Estelle to stay away like this before?" Graham asked.

"I have, sir. Twice she's done it. Once when she was small and the master punished her; and another time when 'twas words they'd had. To frighten us it was she did it," replied Denis.

"Then why do you worry now?"

"'Tis different it is this time with her father, God rest his soul, lying dead. And the way this Mr. Flint asks about her, 'tis that I don't like. Tell me, for God's sake, Mr. Graham, you don't think 'tis suspecting her the fool is?"

His voice sank to a hoarse whisper. "Suspecting her of lifting her blessed hand against her own father?"

He hung on Graham's answer, his knotted hands twisted together against his breast.

"Good heavens, no! Nobody could dream of such a horrible thing!" Graham exclaimed. And as he spoke, the question wormed itself in his mind: "Could it be?"

He remembered Flint's look as he drew Estelle's long white glove back and forth through his thin, nervous fingers.

"I wouldn't worry if I were you; a thousand perfectly simple things may have happened," he made haste to answer.

Denis' face brightened. "Thank you, sir," he exclaimed fervently. Then, with a change of manner: "I was to tell you, that Mr. Flint is in the library."

The house, which last night was a house of mystery and menace, in the prosaic light of a dull morning looked commonplace and unwarmed.

It gave Graham a feeling of flatness and disillusionment. There before him were the stairs up which he had felt his audacious way in the darkness, up which, later, he had led Evadne. The shining stair rail which had seemed to reach toward him out of the shadows like a ghostly hand gave him now no thrill. He glanced into the drawing room. There was the high-backed chair in which Evadne had sat, and the table beside it on which her hand had rested as she played nervously with the little ivory elephant that stood on it. And yet nothing in the room had any intimate revelation to make of her. Her presence did not linger there; he could not call it up. She had passed through the rooms, an alien, and had left no trace. They were handsome, rooms in their way—rich, ornate, luxurious. Each article seemed to cry out blatantly: "Look at me! I was the costliest of my kind in the shop." The one or two really good things in the room seemed, Graham thought, trying to escape notice in the clamor, shamed by the company they were keeping.

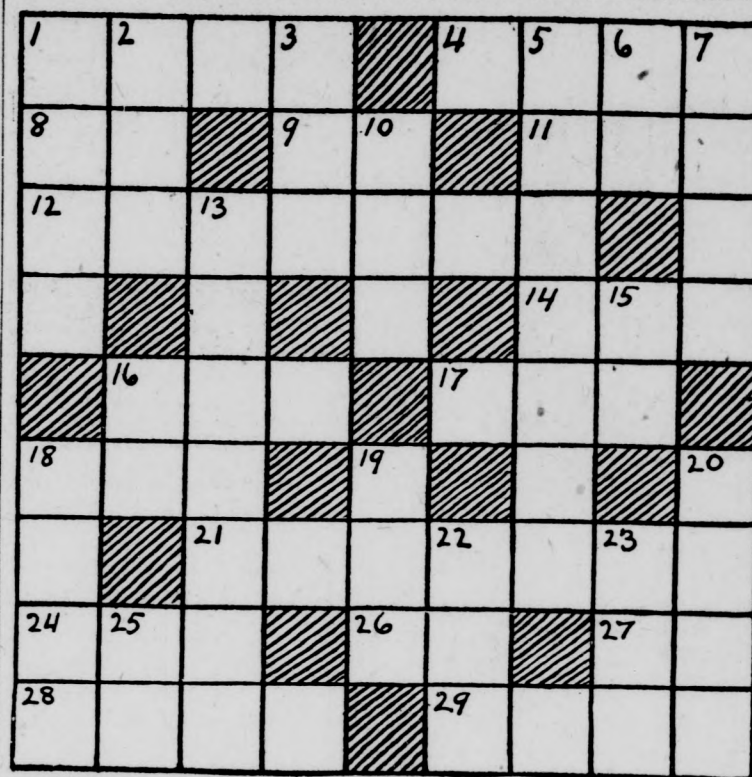

In the library, whose heavy curtains had been drawn back letting a pale light in upon its massive furnishings, Graham found Flint. With him was a young woman of that type of femininity which, as she herself would have expressed it, always goes fashion one better. It seemed to Graham that there was something vaguely familiar about her.

"This is Miss Gwendolyn Smith, Mr. Hurst's secretary," said Flint, by way of introduction.

"Pleased to meet you," said the girl mechanically. She was huddled in one end of the big, over-tufted, over-luxurious sofa, and was so agitated as to be careless that her hat was tilted over one ear, and it was not the style of hat to be worn over ears. The artistically bowed, crimson line of her lips stood out with un-

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white square that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS
Copyright, 1925, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

UNCLE WIGGILY WINDS THE CLOCK

"Don't forget, now, Uncle Wiggily! Don't forget!" said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the hollow stump bungalow, as she put away her knitting and started upstairs to go to bed. The rabbit gentleman was sitting in his easy chair, reading the last page of the paper, to see if there was anything on the radio he wanted to listen to.

"I won't forget," promised Mr. Longears, slowly twinkling his pink nose. Then he went on reading the paper, while Nurse Jane went to sleep.

Now you might wonder what it was that the bunny gentleman wasn't going to forget. It wasn't anything like going out to seek an adventure, for now it was dark night. And it wasn't anything like playing a trick on the Skilley Scallery Alligator, for the bad chap wasn't in the hollow stump bungalow—that is, not yet.

No—all that Uncle Wiggily promised not to forget was to wind the clock. Each night before he came up to bed, he had to wind the clock. Sometimes, on account of an exciting adventure during the day, the bunny would forget about the clock and Nurse Jane would need to remind him, as she did this evening.

After a while Uncle Wiggily laid aside the paper, yawned once or twice, gave a half-twinkle to his pink nose and said:

"Well, I guess I'll wind the clock and go to bed." If he and Nurse Jane had kept a cat he would have put the cat out after winding the clock. But they didn't keep a cat, though often Tommie, Joie or Kittie Kat, one of the pussy children, would come over to spend the day.

The bunny gentleman put the key in the hole in the face of the clock and began winding.

"What do you want?" asked the bunny, looking up as he was stooping down to peer under the rocking chair for the clock key.

"I want your ears, of course!" answered the Bob Cat. "And I'm going to have them, too! What are you doing down on the floor in that silly way?" he asked.

"Looking for the clock key— it dropped out as I was winding it," said the rabbit. "Please, Mr. Bob Cat, will you help me look for the key? Don't take me away until I find the key, or Nurse Jane can never wind the clock. Just look under that chair near you and see if the key is there."

"All right," growled the Bob Cat. "I will. And as soon as we find the key I'm going to take you off to my den and nibble your ears."

The Bob Cat got down on his paws and knees to look under the easy chair, and then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily gave the bad chap a hard push with his foot, jamming the Bob Cat under the chair and holding him fast there.

"Let me out! Let me out!" bawled the bad chap.

"Not until you find the clock key!" laughed the bunny. And, try as he could, the Bob Cat didn't get out from under the chair until the Police Dog came and took him off to jail. And then Nurse Jane came downstairs and found the key under the table. So the clock was wound and the bunny could go to bed and sleep without having his ears nibbled.

But if the electric light doesn't eat so much current pie that it gets as heavy as the gas stove, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's funny race.

LADY CARNARVON TELLS HER STORY

Heiress Who Married Col. Dennistoun After His Divorce Testifies

LONDON, March 19.—Lady Carnarvon took the witness stand this afternoon in the Dennistoun case and after testifying as to the attitude of Mrs. Dorothy Dennistoun toward Sir John Cowans, escaped cross-examination because of a barrister's sympathy.

The heiress who married Colonel Ian Dennistoun after his wife divorced him was so nervous that several times she seemed on the point of fainting. She resorted to smelling salts while on the stand.

Lady Carnarvon testified she had sold her jewels in order to finance a war hospital. Her testimony largely concerned how she met Mrs. Dennistoun and what she knew of Mrs. Dennistoun's relations with General Cowans.

Her Testimony
 She testified that when she told Mrs. Dennistoun that General Cowans was dying, Mrs. Dennistoun said:
 "The general killed all the love I had for him a long time ago."
 Lady Carnarvon said that Mrs. Dennistoun told her that the general to whom she had accorded intimacy to gain promotion for Colonel Dennistoun wrote "unkind and unpleasant letters."

Mrs. Dennistoun was described by Lady Carnarvon as a "woman charming to the last degree."

BRIDGE PLANNED
 SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—Plans to bridge the San Francisco Bay from the Embarcadero to Alameda are expected to be translated into active work following the application of the Bay Cities Co. for permission to start construction. The bridge will cost about $25,000,000 and will be high enough to permit passage of ocean liners.

COUNCIL RECEIVES BIDS ON FIRE HOSE

Road Improvement Is Also Considered; Proposal For Fire Survey

Bids for fire hose were opened at the City Council meeting today and read by the city clerk, and were referred to the city manager and fire chief for checking and recommendation. Bids for improvement of Sonoma avenue with water pipe were read and referred to the superintendent of plant and production for checking and recommendation. The bid of the Galleon Iron Co. for a steam roller was accepted.

A proposal that a fire survey of Glendale be made by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, brought before the council by Chairman P. J. Hayelden, of the Chamber of Commerce fire committee, was referred to the committee of the whole.

The council granted the Pacific Union conference of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination permission to conduct a camp-meeting on Verdugo road, August 27 to September 10. Elder O. O. Bernstein, president of the Southern California conference, thanked the council on behalf of the denomination.

Bond Hearing
 The hearing on issuance of bonds for improvement of El Rio avenue was continued one week. Commercial districts were denied at Wilson avenue and Verdugo road, and at Sonoma avenue and Kenneth road. Hearing on establishment of a commercial district at Chevy Chase drive and Verdugo road, for the purpose of acquiring a site for a fire station, was continued one week.

The proposal to change the name of North Adams street to Doran street was referred to the city manager and city engineer. An application from the Assembly of God, Inc., to conduct evangelistic services in a tent on Glendale avenue, between Broadway and Wilson avenue, beginning March 29, was referred back to the organization for further information.

Dinner Dance Permit
 A permit was granted Spaghetti-teria No. 1 to conduct dinner dances at their restaurant on East Colorado street. A permit was granted Barnes' circus to conduct an animal show in Glendale.

An application from Wilson avenue property owners for one-hour parking on this street from Brand boulevard to Maryland avenue was referred to the chief of police. Hearings were set before the City Planning commission April 6 and before the City Council March 9, on applications to place in the commercial district property at Sonoma avenue and Kenneth road, and to remove from the residential district property on Louise street from Doran street to the Verdugo way.

A communication from the Park board requesting aid in pruning trees in parkways was referred to the city manager.

that a 10-cent flat rate is possible for Glendale, it is hoped that a compromise may be reached which will lower the present rates sufficiently to stimulate home-seekers in coming to this city.

Railway's Letter
 Following is the letter addressed to the council by Mr. Smith:

"Honorable Mayor and City Council,
 City of Glendale,
 Glendale, California.

"Gentlemen:—Referring to the conference held Monday, March 2, with the City Council and representatives of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in relation to fares between Glendale and Los Angeles:

"Since this conference there has also been a conference concerning the matter with Pacific Electric Railway Co. officers, and the attitude of the company with respect to the matter is as follows:

"The accounts and operating condition of the Pacific Electric railway were thoroughly gone into at the time the last fare adjustment was made, and after a full and careful study the present basis of fares was established by the State Railroad commission. You understand, of course, that the mileage scale of fares at present applying on the Glendale line also applies on all other interurban lines operated by this company, and we feel after careful consideration that it would not be possible to consider changing the basis of fares on the Glendale line without at the same time considering all other lines operated by the company; in other words, if a change is made on the Glendale line, then it would be necessary to change fares on the Venice Short line, Long Beach line, Pasadena line and other lines of the company.

Shows Deficit
 "When the present fares were established January 1, 1922, it was expected that the revenue taken in would be sufficient to cover fixed charges, which included operating expenses, interest and taxes, and while the same fell short in the year 1922, there was sufficient revenue taken in to meet such charges for the year 1923 with a surplus of approximately $300,000. However, the year 1923 was one of the most prosperous years in California, and a profitable one to practically every business industry in Southern California. The year 1924 shows an entirely different result for most industries, including the Pacific Electric railway, which shows a deficit of $589,837.91. In other words, we were that amount short of taking in enough

SEEK CITY'S AID IN SITE CONTEST

Committee Wants City To Donate To Fund For University Branch

George J. Lyons, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee seeking to boost the Burbank site for the University of California, southern branch, appeared before the City Council this morning with a request for $1000 as part of a fund being raised to aid in the fight.

He was told by Mayor Spencer Robinson that the council would do anything it could. Mayor Robinson then asked Ray Morrow, city attorney, for a legal opinion of whether $1000 could be appropriated from the advertising fund for this purpose. Mr. Morrow returned the opinion that such a step would not be legal, as the purpose for which it is proposed to use the money is not strictly advertising.

Favor Burbank Site
 Councilmen S. S. Gilhuly and C. E. Kimlin expressed themselves in favor of doing anything possible to help Burbank get the site and Councilmen H. G. MacBain and S. A. Davis also declared themselves supporters of the Burbank site. The council took the attitude that if such a donation could be made legal they would approve it, and Mr. Morrow was asked to confer with Mr. Lyons to see if some way could be evolved to legalize such a transfer of city funds.

W. B. Kelly, president of the Glendale Lions club, and J. R. Grey, local real estate broker, were present in the council chamber and spoke in favor of the council donating $1000 to boost the Burbank site. It was brought out that Mattison B. Jones and W. E. Evans, prominent California attorneys, who live in Glendale, exert their efforts on behalf of the Burbank site.

Glendale Men in North
 SACRAMENTO, March 19.—Mattison B. Jones and W. E. Evans, Glendale attorneys, have arrived here to further Burbank's fight to gain the University of California, southern branch, Glendale is backing Burbank in the fight. Both Glendale men interviewed Governor Richardson this afternoon. They are also to interview various university regents, going to San Francisco tomorrow for that purpose. C. C. Chapman of Fullerton is here in behalf of the Fullerton site.

money to pay the fixed charges, which includes operating expenses, interest and taxes.

"The reason for the present basis of construction of fares, providing a very low commutation fare for the daily rider to enable him to afford to live in a community outside of Los Angeles and travel daily to and from his work, and a higher fare for the occasional traveler, was explained by me at the conference, and you will recall my expression of the opinion that this basis of fares was still the proper basis for Glendale. This is also the unanimous opinion of other officers of the company. In other words after a careful consideration it is felt that a flat basis for fares, eliminating the low commutation fares, would be a mistake.

"The article in The Glendale Evening News covering the conference, creates an impression that is for the most part contrary to that expressed by me at the conference, as it was repeatedly stated that this company could not afford to consider a reduction in our revenues, which of course means the same thing as a reduction in fares.

Proposed Improvements
 "There are a great many improvements that must be made by the Pacific Electric railway in the way of additional facilities that it will be impossible to finance at all if fares are to be reduced to the net result from operations decreased in any way.

"Wish to again call attention to the tunnel and subway terminal now being constructed at a cost of $4,312,100. This subway is nearing completion and should be in operation early this coming fall. When placed in operation it will mean a decrease in the running time between Glendale and Los Angeles of approximately ten minutes during the off-peak hours and at least fifteen to twenty minutes during the hours of peak traffic morning and evening. In addition, the shortening of the mileage between Glendale and Los Angeles on the present basis of construction of fares will automatically bring about a reduction in the one way fare of 2 cents or from 23 cents to 21 cents, and a reduction in the round trip fare of 3 cents or from 38 cents to 35 cents; also a reduction of approximately 1 cent per trip in the various forms of commutation tickets. The placing in service of the subway will be of tremendous benefit to your district. On the other hand it means that the company will have added to its operating costs the interest charges for carrying this added investment.

Called Benefits
 "All things considered, we feel that present basis of fares is not a detriment but on the other hand it is of benefit to the continued growth of Glendale as well as other communities. Of course a reduction in fares would help every district, but it must be kept in mind that the Pacific Electric must be allowed sufficient revenue to meet fixed charges, including operating expenses, interest and taxes, if it is to continue to render an adequate and satisfactory service.

"Under the circumstances regret to advise that the company

ROTARIANS FAVOR HIGHWAY PROGRAM

Adopt Resolution Opposing Further Taxation on Autos and Gas

Members of the Glendale Rotary club went on record today noon as opposed to the proposed breed bill on gasoline and automobile tax increase unless Southern California received the just portion of road building and highway improvements the Southland is entitled to. The action was taken after M. B. Towman, manager of the Glendale branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California, had spoke at the meeting held at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. He said 64 per cent of the automobiles in the state were owned by residents of the thirteen counties in Southern California, and that the automobile at present is the most taxed piece of property.

Bene Olin, who presided in the absence of President J. Herbert Smith, suggested referring the matter of a resolution on the bill to the public affairs committee, but Roy L. Kent, chairman of that committee, asked that the question be decided by the members today. A resolution, which will be sent to Assemblyman Frank C. Weller, asking him to oppose the bill, was passed.

Rev. Ernest Ford, chairman of the fellowship committee, had charge of the program. Short talks were made by Ed Nisla, A. H. Dibbern, J. E. Phillips, Clarence Kaeding, Arthur Loomis and Arthur Hutchinson on what Rotary meant to them. Richardson D. White spoke on "Concentration." James Rhodes spoke on "Civic Pride," and Clark Dilly spoke on "The Code of Ethics."

Visiting Rotarians present were Volney P. Kinne, Buffalo, N. Y.; Herbert Malott, Detroit, Mich.; Steve Rathbun, Battle Creek, Mich.; William Brewster, St. Joseph, Mich.; Fred A. Haut, Cheboygan, Mich.; Albert J. Hayes, Brainerd, Minn.; Elmer H. Runkle, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Thomas Horn, Alameda; Frank Cummins, Burbank; T. P. Dudley, Huntington Park; Arthur Loomis, Malcoln Campbell, Louisi. Tye, Charles Feeney, Samuel Johnson; Edward F. Twomey and Charles Fleishman, all of Los Angeles.

British Field Marshal In Serious Operation

LONDON, March 19.—Field Marshal French, the first of the Ypres, underwent a serious operation today. An official bulletin issued after the operation stated: "His condition must give rise to anxiety for some time." He was commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary forces in France in 1914 and 1915.

is not at this time in a position to lower or to modify the present basis of fares. If the question of fares is to be considered in the near future, the position of the Pacific Electric must be that the fares should be increased on all lines sufficiently to meet fixed charges.

"Yours truly,
 "O. A. SMITH,
 "Passenger and Traffic Manager."

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
 For International News Service
 NEW YORK, March 19.—Stocks were under pressure today and after a moderate rally in the first hour, the result of short covering, the market turned dull and reactionary, with many of the active stocks dipping to new low price levels for the year.

Heavy trading in the St. Paul railroad stocks gradually forced the prices of these issues, as well as the senior bonds, to the lowest prices in their history.

Railroad stocks as a group were steady, though inactive. Norfolk & Western spurred 3 points, to above 134, and Atchafalaya was fairly strong. Rock Island, New Haven, Washash and other aggressive leaders in the rise of speculative rails in February, reflected to the low levels of last month. The Erie stocks common and first preferred, sold at higher prices, reflecting the progress reported in the Van Swearingen merger of transportation lines.

A good part of the pressure was the result of bearish operations of powerful professionals. Oil stocks made a better showing. Pan-American continued in the leadership of the independents, though good buying was in evidence in Cosden, Phillips, Texas Co., Independent Oil & Gas and Shell Union.

United States Steel was an active leader in the industrial group and heavy trading took place in this stock about a point above the previous close. American Woolen was needed for short covering, as also were General Electric and American Can. Bethlehem Steel and Gulf States Steel showed considerable improvement.

Sales today, 1,713,100 shares; bonds, $12,774,000.

CAMEL HAIR COAT STILL IS FAVORED

Younger Set Refuses to Let Any New Style Take
Topper's Place

By AILEEN LAMONT

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Nothing has yet taken the place of the camel hair topcoat, especially among girls of the younger set. These soft and becoming coverings are essentially plain and the latest are made on the general lines of the Cuadro coats so popular for many last year. They are double breasted and have a belted back. The natural camel and almond green are favorite colors.

Whatever else the English do, they make charming sport hats. The latest importation here from Henry Heals of London is a fairly wide-brimmed pull-on of fur felt with the rather high, large posillion crown creased in a circle.

Says His Prescription Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pain and Twinges -- Is Guaranteed

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Pain
Starts to Leave the System
Within Twenty-four Hours.

Ahlmann Drug Co. and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if ALLENRHU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinges of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

The hat is trimmed with a band and bow of the same felt and the brim is bound in galloon. Chiffon is being extensively used for evening frocks in Paris at present according to recent arrivals. They explain that the reason for this is that the skirts can be cut fairly long, given a slim silhouette and at the same time seem fashionably short because of their transparency. Many of the more prominent designers are attempting to get away from the embroidered and beaded evening frocks.

'SAFETY' RAZORS

SIoux CITY, Iowa, March 19.—Safety razor blades killed a couple of razor backs here. Two hogs in the city hog yard sickened and died after mysterious convulsions. An autopsy disclosed three old razor blades in the stomach of one animal and two in the other.

WALES DENOUNCED

LONDON, March 19.—The British throne is not tottering, but it is a singular fact that the Prince of Wales has, for the first time, undergone a scathing attack in the House of Commons.

Mr. James H. Allen of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has induced Ahlmann Drug Co. and druggists everywhere to guarantee it as above in every instance.—Advertisement.

SCIENTIFIC CHILD REARING STARTED

Chicago University Starts
Method Expected To Be Universal

By MARGARET DALE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

CHICAGO, March 19.—Science just now is making its first sizeable inroad into the home through a specialized, large scale child rearing scheme at the University of Chicago. Under the plan, the cares of motherhood are cut to a minimum, while the welfare of the child receives the maximum of attention in a scientifically operated nursery, launched by university mothers. They think they have started something which parents the country over will copy. In organizing a comparative nursery, the college women instructors and students have gone a step further and made it a co-operative children's training school. One mother donated $20,000, others contributed money and ideas, and a co-operative nursery was incorporated for $3,000, the cost of a South Side home near the university.

This house has been remodelled into an efficient child rearing plant. The youngsters, forty-two in number, are brought to their nursery home each morning at 8 o'clock. From then on until 5 they get what science prescribes they should have, while their mothers pursue their school work. Once in the nursery the children are given their scientifically proper amount of play, their scientifically proper exercises, scientifically arranged sleeping periods, and are fed on scientifically prepared foods. Their training is on a scientifically arranged schedule, with the needs of each child met.

"The advantages of the scientific nursery should appeal to mothers everywhere," the college women say. "Every advantage of modern methods of child care can be utilized in such a scheme. Troubles for both the child and the mother are eliminated to a large degree, and the home training which of necessity must be inadequate in a city where flat dwelling is imperative, is supplemented by really scientific care."

eastern schools were built and how poorly they were ventilated. Schools of Chicago and Kansas City which Mr. Myce visited, were mentioned as were also incidents of the convention held recently at Cincinnati.

Mrs. W. R. Wicher, president, directed the meeting. The program for the afternoon was presented by freshmen students of Harvard High school under the direction of Mrs. Percy Rogers. Selections were given by the freshman orchestra; readings by Dorothy Van Dyke and Katherine Mattoon. Mary Nell Hall played a piano solo prelude by Chopin.

Sophomore Tea

Announcement was made of the sophomore tea which will be given at the home of Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., at 347 North Orange street on March 30. Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of Glendale P.-T. A. federation in a brief talk told of the P.-T. A. conferences which will be held at future dates. The first conference will be held March 26 at Redondo Beach, the women meeting at Harvard High school at 8:30 o'clock for the trip. Anyone having means of transportation is requested to communicate with Mrs. R. N. Stryker, president of Acadia P.-T. A., Mrs. W. G. Lauderdale, president of Pacific P.-T. A. or Mrs. Arthur Franklin, president of Wilson P.-T. A.

The district convention was announced by Mrs. Spradling for April 16 and 17 in Los Angeles, and the state convention will be held in Fresno May 11. Tea was served in the cafeteria before the meeting.

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—It cost Special Officer William Dixon his watch, chain and $10 at Twelfth street and Central avenue to subdue a score of negroes who were engaged in a confidential combat for individual supremacy, according to police reports.

Dixon observed the contest in which fists were flying promiscuously, and hastened to rout the participants. When he emerged he noted the loss of his valuables. A spectacular fountain of water caused by a broken fire plug in the center of Universal City held up work at the studios for almost an hour. Witnesses reported that the plug was knocked off by a touring car which failed to stop.

Seeks Treasure In Jungles

LADY RICHMOND BROWN, society beauty of England, who will hunt for buried Maya gems and gold in the midst of a dense jungle on an island near Central America, near where she explored uncharted lands a year ago.

LONDON, Mar. 19.—Lady Richmond Brown's recent perilous trip into islands of the Caribbean and the neighboring jungles of Central America has whetted her appetite for adventure. She is now undertaking a second dangerous journey into the jungles, this time to search for gold and gems buried centuries ago by the Mayas.

Lady Brown is confident the treasure, in whose existence archaeologists have long believed, lies hidden in the very wilds which she visited a year ago, and where she is thought to have been the first white woman to set foot.

In order that she may have the opportunity to hunt the treasure at her leisure and that there may be no doubt about her right to whatever she finds she has taken a twenty-year lease on 70,000 acres of land in that part of British Honduras where she found the most surprising evidences of the remarkable civilization built up there by the Mayas long before the Christian era.

This adventurous Englishwoman is 40 years old. She is the wife of Sir Melville Richmond Brown. For years her great hobby has been exploration, but her previous trip to Central America was the most daring and ambitious she has yet taken.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Five hundred and sixty-nine broadcasting stations are operating in the United States. This was disclosed today by the department of commerce in connection with the issuance of the first list of the American stations published since the new classification and allocation system went into effect. The department has arranged the broadcasters by wave lengths instead of alphabetically as in former lists. Of the total, ninety-three have class B licenses. According to the list, ninety-six different wave lengths are employed for the broadcasters, the class B and class A stations using forty-eight each.

Of the wave lengths the 275 meter mark is the most congested of the low bands, with twenty-eight stations operating at that point. Twenty-five stations are operating on 268 meters and the same number on 273 meters. At 278 meters, are found twenty-two broadcasters and the 261 meter mark is assigned to twenty stations.

Nineteen stations are on 250 meters and eighteen stations are on each of six wave lengths—226, 231, 234, 252, 263, and 266 meters. The lowest wave length assigned is 205 meters to WCRB, Providence, WBBE, Sewickley, Pa.; WZBH, Port Huron, Mich.; and KDBZ, Bakersfield, Calif.

The congestion of the New York broadcasting bands will be a matter for the broadcasters themselves to solve. Judge B. Davis, solicitor of the department of commerce, and W. D. Terrell, supervisor of the radio section of the department, returned to Washington Monday, after a conference at which the situation of the Metropolitan plants with an attempt on the part of the officials to decide anything. Should a new wave length be given to Manhattan, about the only band that could be used would be around 340 meters.

RADIO PROSPECTS

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—The linking together by short waves of hundreds of stations for the simultaneous broadcasting of programs is the ideal toward which radio broadcasting must strive in order to obtain the greatest flexibility of broadcasting service, according to H. P. Davis, vice-president of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., and internationally known as the "Father of Broadcasting."

Republican Women Organize
At Luncheon Meeting Held Yesterday

to promote active citizenship and aid in the election of Republicans to office."

Outlines Purpose
Mrs. Clark was the next speaker, and like Miss Kelly she spoke fluently on the subject in which she is so vitally interested. She outlined the purposes of the federation of California Republican women. She stated that the national committeewoman will always be federation president and that officers of the organization will be the district committeewomen. She told of the importance of the vote in Los Angeles and vicinity, stating that "as goes Los Angeles so goes the state." She advocates that Republican women should have "understanding, knowledge, intelligence, illumination and wisdom" in party affairs.

"There's a big call for women today in government and politics," she concluded.
In Mrs. Porter, Republican women of California and America, have an inspiring leader. Yesterday, before she took up the theme, where Mrs. Clark concluded, Mrs. Porter took occasion to reminisce a bit, recalling when she was president of Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs. At that time Glendale was but a small town and the Tuesday Afternoon club a small organization. Under her presidency the Tuesday Afternoon club joined the district federation. Speaking of the California federation of Republican women, Mrs. Porter said:

National in Scope
"Through this federation we hope to effect a union of the north and south that has never existed. I believe it is possible to build up a Republican women's organization from Maine to California that will uplift the party. We want to raise the party to higher standards of intelligence. If I weren't a Republican I'd be a Democrat, because I wouldn't be a non-partisan in belief nor action. During her talk she emphasized that the women's Republican clubs being formed in Glendale and other California cities are not for participation in municipal or county politics.

"We are to consider national affairs only," she said, "and my advice to you is, don't endorse a candidate previous to the primaries. After the primaries you can give your candidate earnest support." She expressed the hope that more representative California Republican women might be sent to the state Legislature.

All these speakers emphasized that these Republican clubs are not identified with any movement or person and are not organized to further any such interests.

Visits President

Mrs. Koverman, when introduced, told of conferring with President Coolidge upon a recent visit to the White House, and of his telling her that he appreciated the part California women took in his victory in the recent election.

Mrs. George Neil served as temporary chairman. Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, chairman of the by-law committee, presented the by-laws adopted. Serving with Mrs. Greenwalt were Mrs. Adelaide Imbler and Mrs. E. W. W. Haywood. They had done splendid work and had copies of the by-laws typed, in order that they might be in the hands of the women present when read. Members of the nominating committee were Mesdames H. E. Bartlett, F. L. Church, E. V. Bacon, Mabel Franklin Ocker, Alice Carter. While the nominating committee was meeting informal opinions favoring the formation of the club were given by Mesdames A. H. Montgomery, Adelaide Imbler, E. M. Emery and A. L. Ferguson.

Mesdames W. E. Evans, Adelaide Imbler and W. S. Rattray were named the committee to arrange the next meeting.

Charter Members

The fifty women paying dues and thereby becoming charter members of the club are Mesdames Ella W. Richardson, A. H. Montgomery, G. H. Carter, W. E. Evans, R. E. Chase, Mabel Franklin Ocker, Opal Greenwalt, Roberta T. Young, George Neil, Stephen C. Packer, Fannie S. McNutt, Margaret Stevenson, A. M. Hunt, Frankie A. Webb, H. E. Bartlett, Martha E. Hunter, S.
